ENGINEERS OF 50 ROADS TO STRIKE

Men on Eastern Lines Vote Overwhelmingly to Quit. Walkout Certain Unless the Railway Managers Make New Proposition.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Engineers of fifty Eastern railroads have voted overwhelmingly for a strike. The count of the votes was completed today.

Of the 25,700 engineers who responded to the referendum vote 93.1 per cent. voted in favor of the walkout.

The tenths affected lies east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio and the Norfolk & Western railroad. The vote was taken following the refusal of the railroad heads to grant the demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, recently presented.

On passenger service the men demand 4½ per 100 miles or less on engines with cylinders of twenty inches or under, and 34.60 when the cylinders are over that diameter, with extra miles computed pro rata, and seventy cents an hour for overtime. The freight rate calls for wages running from $5.225 for twenty-inch cylinder engines to $7 for the Mallet type; switchers, $4.50 a day, and bill time engines, $4.50 on a ten-hour basis, with numerous rules relating to the working conditions of the men in all branches of the service.

The question of a strike now hinges entirely on the action of a committee representing the railroad heads, to which Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the engineers' organization, addressed a letter asking them if they had any counter proposal to make. The railroad managers will meet Monday afternoon, April 15.

In addition to the vote of the engineers the members of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen also were permitted to vote, although the ballots were not entered in the count of the engineers.

"We will wait a reasonable time and unless the managers come forward with a counter proposition in reply to a letter I am mailing them today we will arrange for an immediate walkout," declared Mr. Stone today.

The demands affect 25,700 men in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, about 6,500 engineers in the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen who while working as engineers are not in the engineers' brotherhood and 2,600 engineers who are unaffiliated with either body.

Defaulter Shaw's Letters Are Missing

Missives Written by Mrs. Stuart, His Friend, Also Gone, Say Legal Interrogatories.

Letters written by Arthur W. Shaw, the Maine shoe man arrested in California on the charge of defaulting, to Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart, a woman friend in Boston, and letters written by her to him, are missing, it was learned today when interrogatories were filed in the Superior Court for the purpose of tracing the letters if possible. Lawyer Paul Lewis, of counsel for Mrs. Stuart, is trying to find the missing letters.

One of the letters Mrs. Stuart wrote to Shaw was read by some one other than Shaw in Los Angeles, as a result of which the bail of Mrs. Stuart, who had been arrested as an accessory, was increased.

Mrs. Stuart turned over to Receiver Bancroft $12,000 of the property that it was charged Shaw misappropriated. Mr. Bancroft brought suit against Mrs. Stuart for $7,000, alleging that that amount was still missing and that she was believed to know something about it.

Mrs. Stuart seeks to ascertain from Receiver Bancroft why he suspected her of knowing anything about the $7,000 said to be missing and if the receiver has any letters she wrote to Shaw. Mrs. Stuart wants to know particularly if a letter she wrote on February 19 to Shaw fell into the hands of others than to whom it was sent, if he knows, and if so all about it.

Sixty-seven interrogatories were filed for Mrs. Stuart to answer, by the receiver. These questions have to do with the missing $7,000 worth of bonds.

Like queries were filed and directed to Saul Weiss, who furnished bonds for Mrs. Stuart. Receiver Bancroft wants to know from him whether Mrs. Stuart turned over any bonds to him. The suit brought by Receiver Bancroft against Mrs. Stuart and Shaw in connection with the missing bonds comes up in the Equity Court next week.

Again Asks Court to Protect His Daughter

Rev. Mr. Alvord Says Young Man Has Renewed His Unwelcome Attentions to Girl.

The Rev. Henry C. Alvord, pastor of the Old South Congregational Church, South Weymouth, applied to Judge Avery in the Quincy District Court today for further protection for his daughter, Miss Ruth Alvord, against the attentions of A. Marshal Dean, the young man who was in court Wednesday for issuing the girl. Miss Alvord is a grammar school teacher in North Andover. She telephoned her father that Dean had followed her there.

Judge Avery re-issued the warrant against Dean. In court Wednesday he was fined $50 for disturbing the peace by obtruding himself on Miss Alvord, her father and her fiance, Max Storm, at Mr. Alvord's church Easter night. Then sentence was suspended six months.

Mr. Alvord said Dean had persisted in writing to and calling on Miss Alvord, though directed not to. Dean, the father said, declares Miss Alvord is his wife.

"My child is ruined," declares Mr. Alvord in the style of the slight of God." Miss Alvord is twenty-three years old and a graduate of Mount Holyoke College. Dean is thirty-one, a graduate of Tech, and is in the offices of the Boston & Albany as a civil engineer.

Jury Decides Against Horse Racing Judges

Owner of Trotter Suspended at Maine Fair Gets $708 Verdict.

BATH, Me., April 12.—In the Supreme Judicial Court of this city today the jury returned a verdict of $708.58 in favor of Frank W. Carleton of Warwick against the judges of horse racing at the Maine State Fair in Lewiston last September.

Mr. Carleton brought a suit for $1,500 against the judges, J. Stanley Nichols of Augusta, Otis C. Serlbner of Lewiston and Horace B. Fletcher of South Paris, for suspending his trotting stallion, Baron Stilnut, and his driver, Albert E. Russell, for a period of sixty days for alleged foul driving.

Mr. Carleton appealed to the National Trotting Association, who reinstated his horse and driver and set aside their suspension. He consequently brought suit for lack of good faith in the order of suspension.

This is the first case of its kind ever tried in a Maine court and attracted the attention of horsemen throughout the State.

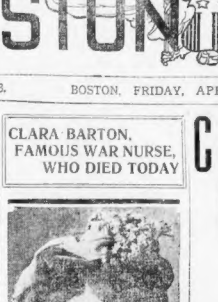
CLARA BARTON, FAMOUS WAR NURSE, WHO DIED TODAY



CLARA BARTON

RICHESON CASE COST $7,030

Clarence V. T. Richeson, the self-confessed slayer of Avis Linnel, who will pay the penalty for his crime the week of May 19, next, has cost the County of Suffolk $7,030.61 to date. This cost is according to bills filed with the clerk of the Superior court, today.

These bills include the cost of investigation by detectives o fthe Boston Police Department, State detectives and members of the Pinkerton agency. Witnesses were brought from many places. Doctors have sent in their bills for medical attendance when Richeson wounded himself at the Charles Street Jail and during his convalescence.

He has also had the services of lawyers for which the county has paid. The cutting of Richeson's belongings from his house in Cambridge to the court house and the hire of carriages for him and witnesses have been paid by the county.

Yet the County of Suffolk is a great deal in pocket, due to Richeson's confession. If he had gone to trial, the cost of keeping court, the pay of officers, the bringing of witnesses from near and far, the pay of the jury and scores of other items, would have brought the cost up to the county, it is said up to $50,000 more.

After Richeson is taken to the death cell in the execution chamber of the State Prison, within ten days of the 19th of May, the cost of his keep while there, the payment for the electrician, whose duty it is to throw the switch that will send the electricity through Richeson's body, and the charges of the undertaker will be assumed by the State.

DR. NESBIT, FORMER HEAD OF CANADIAN BANK, ARRESTED

CHICAGO, April 12.—Dr. Beattie Nesbit, former president of the Farmers National Bank of Toronto, is under arrest here charged with having stolen $200,000 of the bank's funds a year ago.

TAFT ALLOWS ARMS TO ENTER MEXICO

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The President today authorized the carrying across the Mexican border of a large quantity of sittings and parts of ship guns to the Federal government. Two thousand cases of dynamite were also permitted to cross the border, consigned to the Mexican National Dynamite Company and to the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company.

PARIS SHAKEN BY BOMB IN TAXICAB

PARIS, April 12.—A bomb exploded inside a taxicab in the rue de Lyon today. The force of the explosion shook the greater part of the city and wrecked the motor car. The chauffeur and some pedestrians were injured. The outrage is believed to have been committed by chauffeurs, many of whom have been on strike for over two months.

CLARA BARTON IS DEAD

Aged Head of American Red Cross Passes Away at Home at Glen Echo, Md., Today, After a Long Period of Feeble Health.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Clara Barton, head of the American Red Cross, died at her home in Glen Echo, Md., today.

Born in North Oxford.

Clarissa Harlowe Barton was born in North Oxford, Mass., Christmas Day, in 1821, a daughter of Captain Stevens and Dolly (Stone) Barton. Her father participated in the conflict with the Indians in the West and her grandfather was in the service under "Mad Anthony" Wayne. She completed her education in the academy at Clinton, N. Y., and became a teacher at Bordentown, N. J., where she established the first free school in New Jersey. This school opened with six pupils, but in a very short time had 600. Inside of a year a schoolhouse was erected at a cost of $4,000.

She had the distinction of being the first woman ever employed by the United States Department of the Interior, beginning government work as a clerk in 1854. She offered her services to the War Department when she heard of the assault upon the Sixth Massachusetts regiment at Baltimore. Through her efforts many loads of supplies were forwarded to the front for the relief of the soldiers in the Civil War.

She visited the hospitals and went with the Army of the Potomac and nursed the wounded on the battlefields. Miss Barton superintended the forwarding of supplies. Surgeons and commanding generals, as well as the officers at Washington, appreciated her good judgment and placed at her disposal every facility possible.

When the Civil War closed there 8,000 names of missing men on the muster roll of the United States, and Miss Barton instituted the bureau of missing men. She was the means of stones being placed over the graves of 12,920 soldiers at Andersonville, and had it not been for her efforts Andersonville would have remained a barren waste.

Through the efforts of Miss Barton and Mrs. Ellinbeth Turner of Boston, the Woman's Relief Corps bought the prison grounds. Miss Barton continued her work four years, expending $15,000 of her own money. Upon approval of President Lincoln Miss Barton was reimbursed by Congress.

Miss Barton took a trip to Europe in 1869 with the idea of having a complete rest, but when she arrived at Geneva, Switzerland, members of the International committee for the relief of the wounded in war wished her to co-operate with them in securing the adoption by the United States of the treaty of the Red Cross. The Red Cross had been founded in Switzerland six years before.

Miss Barton was still in Switzerland when the war between France and Prussia broke out. She accompanied the representatives of the Red Cross to the front, as they desired her to direct the work as she had done during the Civil War. In recognition of her splendid work, Miss Barton was presented with the iron cross of Germany by the Kaiser.

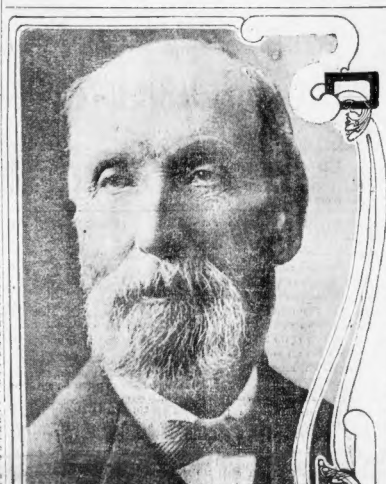
Miss Barton returned to America in 1873, but she suffered from poor health and it was five years before she was able to go to Washington. She visited President Hayes and presented him with an official letter from President Moynier of the international committee of Red Cross. President Hayes referred the letter to Secretary of War Evarts. Nothing more was heard of the matter until after James A. Garfield was elected President. He referred the matter to Secretary of State James G. Blaine, who promised cooperation.

Encouraged by this official promise of assistance, Miss Barton called a meeting which was held in Washington, April 21, 1881, and which resulted in the founding of the American National Association of the Red Cross. A constitution was adopted, and Miss Barton was elected president, a position she held at the time the United States was officially made a public h. Treasury Arthur July 26, 1882, and on August 9 of the same year was promulgated from the office of the Secretary of State.

The relief work following the great forest fires of Michigan was undertaken almost before the completion of the society in 1881. When the Ohio and Mississippi floods came in 1884 the Red Cross was the first to lunch boats, saving people and stock.

In the Texas famine in 1887 the Red Cross did wonderful work. During the yellow fever epidemic at Florida in 1888, the Mt. Vernon epidemic in the same year, the Johnstown disaster in 1889 and the Charleston earthquake in 1893 the great society founded by Miss Barton did wonderful work, relieving the injured and forwarding provisions.

GEORGE E. MARSH SHOT TO DEATH



George E. Marsh, Murder Victim.

Wealthy Soap Manufacturer Found in Marsh Believed Carried There After Death.

George E. Marsh, a rich, retired soap manufacturer of Lynn, seventy-five years old, was found murdered on West Lynn marshes today, the victim, the police believe, of some enemy who deliberately planned and carried out a deadly plot for revenge.

Mr. Marsh was shot six times, once in the head, once in the shoulder, twice through the heart and twice in the abdomen. The murderer made absolutely sure that his victim was dead.

It is thought a woman may have fired the fusillade of bullets. The number of shots indicates the murderer was inspired by a frenzy of rage against the victim. The way one shot after another was fired leads the police to view it as the work of an infuriated woman. Men, they say, seldom fire so many shots, especially fatal ones.

After the body as removed to the city examination of the ground showed a wheelbarrow track, comparatively fresh, leading from where the body was found along a pathway to the railroad tracks one hundred yards distant.

The police believe that the first shot was the one behind the ear and that it was fired from back of the victim.

Body Carried to the Spot.

The murder was probably not committed on the marsh where the body was found. Medical Examiner Joseph G. Pinkham said previous to performing the autopsy:

"From a casual examination of the body, I would say that Mr. Marsh was never murdered on the marsh. His body was brought there from parts unknown and was thrown over the fence of Lynnway boulevard. The left side of the body struck against the rocks of the embankment which make up the roadway.

"There is no evidence of a struggle. Mr. Marsh was shot down in cold blood."

The assassin or assassins not only escaped, but left, so far as the police can find now, no clew to their identity.

That the murder was committed somewhere else than at the place where the body was found, and that the body was carried to the Lynnway boulevard and thrown over the fence into the swamp, indicate to the minds of the police, a carefully planned plot to kill Mr. Marsh.

At first it was thought robbery was the motive. But Mr. Marsh's watch, a valuable one, and a roll of bills were found intact.

This disposes of the robbery theory. Then the police turned to the theory of a cold-blooded murder, plotted for revenge or for some other motive sufficient to inspire such a deed.

Last Seen Alive.

The last seen of Mr. Marsh alive was when he was measured for a new suit at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the tailoring shop of Parker & Stone on Exchange street, Lynn.

He had an appointment to bowl at the Y. M. C. A. alleys at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon with his brother, Arthur Marsh. When he failed to keep the appointment Arthur Marsh thought nothing particular about it. The brother bowled duly if they happened to meet at the alleys. But they had no fixed rule about it.

The police are looking into the personal affairs of Mr. Marsh so far as possible, hunting a possible motive for a murder for revenge.

Man of Large Affairs.

Mr. Marsh was a man of large affairs and may have, in the course of business, incurred a mortal enmity.

He founded the Goodwill Soap Company, a big concern. Two years ago he sold out to the Swift Interests, in Chicago, with the agreement that he was to remain

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, New York, April 12.—The Highlanders faced the Boston Red Sox in the second game of the series here this afternoon, and there was blood in the eyes of the New York Wolverton picked Russell Ford to do the mound duty, and when the game started the fans leaned back in their seats and expected one pitching battle.

The New York fans seem to respect Buck O'Brien. His work of last season has been remembered by the fans and they did not talk too freely about the Highlanders trimming the Red Sox. Ford has been performing in good shape this year and the bleacherites rooted hard for him to show the Speed Boys something.

The weather was perfect and during practice the players of both teams displayed a lot of speed. A good sized crowd was out and many Boston rooters were noticeably in the grand stand and in the third base seats. It is the impression here that Jake Stahl's boys will cut a little figure in the race this season as all of the Boston people here are getting out the ground.

The good game of yesterday aroused the fans and at the start of the game today they were rooting hard for a New York victory. Cree and a couple of the other players who performed in good style yesterday were given rousing cheers, but still the fans did not forget Wood, Stahl and Lewis, who did a great deal to win the game yesterday in the ninth session.

SOUTH END PARK, April 12.—Another big crowd was out this afternoon, encouraged by yesterday's smashing victory for the Pilgrims, in the hope of seeing "Red" Doolin's pennant chasing Quakers beaten again by Johnny Kling's outfit. Kling expected to serve up a good pitcher in the shape of George A. Tyler, his favorite sidewheeler. But the Phillies proved to be so amenable to right-hand tossing yesterday, that he thought he might cut loose Ed Donnelly, his wild ball artist, at the last moment.

Chalmers and Seaton were the choice of the Philadelphia pitchers. Doolin was expected to take the second game, as the Philadelphia National League rooters, after seeing their hopes beat Connie Mack's world champions, had hoped to see Boston lose three straight in this series, and they would be broken-hearted if Kling cleaned up a majority of the three games.

TALK UNITED SHOE ACTION AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The hearing of the Supreme Court's recent patent monopoly decision on the government's civil and criminal suits against the United Shoe Machinery Company has been discussed at the Department of Justice. It is expected the defendants in the criminal case will ask to have the indictments quashed. Attorney-General Wickersham, his assistant, James A. Fowler; William C. Gregg, special assistant to the Attorney-General, and United States Attorney French of Boston talked over the means of meeting such action.

He Says Butter Can Be Made Directly from Grass—Perhaps It Can

It Can Be Made More Satisfactorily from Cows' Milk, However. And Therein Is a Lesson for Vegetarians

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner.

You know how we get our butter.

The frost, the rain, the wind and the power of gravitation bring the crumbling rock down into the valley. Time, chemical changes, earthworms, etc., produce the soil.

The grass eats the soil and grows.

The cow eats the grass and grows.

The cow gives milk; we take the milk, churn it, we have butter. We eat the butter—and then we grow, having secured for the building up of our blood, quickly and easily, the work OF THE WIND, AND THE FROST, AND THE RAIN, AND THE EARTHWORMS, AND THE EARTH, AND THE GRASS, AND THE COW.

In five minutes, sweeping butter over a piece of bread, we do what took thousands of centuries before the soil was formed, all Spring for the grass to grow, and several years for the cow to grow up.

We get it all in five minutes.

Now, along comes a scientist and tells us that we might make butter directly from grass. Perhaps we could if it were worth while, perhaps we SHALL do so some day, when cows and all the lower animals cease to exist, as they may and as they will.

We might even make butter, if we knew how, directly from the earth itself. For, after all, if the cow gets the butter from the grass, and the grass gets the butter from the earth, science might skip the cow and the grass and get butter from the soil.

But it is better just at present to let the grass eat the earth, and let the cow get butter from the grass, and we get it from the cow.

There is here a lesson for vegetarians. They have an idea that they ought to eat grass instead of eating the cow. They might almost as well try to get good results by eating the earth instead of eating the grass.

This is the age of time-saving devices. And a beefsteak is a time-saving device.

Let the grass grow for one year, let the cow grow for four years, then you eat the cow and save time, save your stomach, your energy, and put into brain work the time that you would have to put into digesting an imitation vegetarian beefsteak made out of nuts and other second-rate food.

Vegetarianism in a grown person is silly. It is harmful and dangerous in a grown person compelled to use his brain. Tolstoi, Wagner and all other really active minds that have tried it have been compelled to give up vegetarianism.

Nothing but vegetables will do for a man rowing a boat on the Nile—he is often quoted as a healthy vegetarian—or for a guide in the Alps hauling beef-fed Englishmen uphill.

Men that row boats and men that drag tourists uphill only need to develop good muscles and fairly good nerves.

They don't have to use their minds. It may be said of them as the farmer said of his pig: "What difference does it make how long it takes this pig to digest his food?"

But a man who must use his brain at high pressure and who therefore wants to have his stomach working and using the blood supply for as few hours as possible, needs MEAT, the time-saving device.

To inflict vegetarianism upon a child—except a very young child living largely upon milk—which is meat in another form—is a crime against the child. It should be prevented by law.

When you realize that among the savage nations of the past only those that practiced cannibalism conquered, because they alone gave their children plenty of meat to eat, YOU CAN REALIZE THAT IT IS FOOLISH TO CONDEMN YOUR OWN CHILD TO THE VEGETARIAN SYSTEM, to the sort of life led by the pappooses of the clay diggers and other inferior tribes of Indians that didn't have any meat and that were always, therefore, frightened to death when they saw a meat-eating Indian come around.

Don't be a vegetarian. Eat meat once a day at least, not oftener than twice daily.

The Automobile Will Make Us More Humane

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner.

One of the commonest and most disagreeable sights in a big city is that of a strong, brutal human being beating a weak and overworked horse because it refuses to do what it cannot do.

Brutality inflicted upon horses is atrocious. But the bad effect of such unkind treatment of animals on HUMAN CHARACTER is far more serious than the actual physical suffering inflicted.

The perfection of the automobile will do much to improve human beings by taking away from their control and from brutal coercion submissive animals.

Everybody knows that the moral standard is raised immediately in a country when slavery is abolished.

In America we have abolished the slavery of human beings, but we still adhere to horse slavery, accompanied by all the worst forms of the old negro slavery. The faithful slave may be beaten and driven to death. The driver MUST BE BRUTALIZED,

The Woes of Neglected Wives and Making Matrimony Interesting

By DOROTHY DIX

IN the course of a year I get hundreds of letters from neglected wives telling me their tales of woe. Everyone of these letters is soaked in tears and dripping with the very life blood of a broken-hearted wife. They are tragedy itself, and yet, at the same time, they are sardonically humorous in their lack of reason and refusal to accept the logic of a situation.

For after reciting the wrongs she endures at her husband's hands—after enumerating his brutalities in her letter telling that he never speaks to her, except to abuse and insult her, and after writing that he, perhaps, beats her in his furies when she remonstrates with him for his conduct—the woman almost invariably winds up by saying:

"What can I do? I don't want to leave my husband, because, in spite of the way he treats me, I love him still."

Isn't that the inscrutable feminine at its most wildly mysterious moments? Can there be anything more curious than that a woman should love a man who so mistreated her? Or could there be anything more cynically funny than that a woman should blandly ask for some reliable recipe for changing her husband's nature, and converting him from a rounder or a beast into a loving, tender domestic spouse?

She Should Endure His Treatment Without Whining

You don't know whether to weep over such a woman or to laugh at her. But it is easy enough to answer her question.

What shall a wife do who is married to a man who neglects her and ill-treats her, but who still loves him so much that she doesn't want to leave him?

The answer is—stand it without whining. If you have no more spirit than the whipped dog that licks the hand that beats it, at least forbear to disturb other people's peace by howling about your grievances.

To a decent, dignified woman, with any shred of self-respect there are but two courses open in dealing with a husband who neglects and abuses her. One is to pack her trunk and get up and leave him. And the other is, if she stays with him, to cover her bruises from the gaze of the world, and to bear her troubles in silence. It's up to her to either bike out and leave the conditions that she finds so afflicting, or else to put up a bluff at liking them, but she hasn't any right to stand being neglected, and then bedew the innocent bystander with her tears over an unfaithful husband.

No Wife Can Change the Nature of Her Husband

As for a wife changing the attitude of her husband who neglects her, and who is surly and grouchy, and niggardly to her, that's an impossibility. No wife can work that miracle. It takes some other woman to do it, and I myself have seen a brutal husband, who had literally kitted two gentle, refined, delicate wives by his cruelty, so tamed and henpecked by a third wife that he dared not call his soul his own.

No! No woman can alter, by so much as a hair's breadth, the way her husband treats her after he has fallen into the habit of tyrannizing over her and abusing her, but any woman with a grain of sense and the backbone of an angle worm can prevent herself from ever becoming the victim of a bully.

Every wife decides just how her husband shall treat her, and she gets just what is coming to her. If she will stand for insults and being sworn at, she will be sworn at and insulted, but if she insists on being treated as a lady, she gets the respect due a lady. If, from her very wedding day, she insists upon a fair share of her husband's income she will get it, but if she stays in the background, and wears the made-over clothes while he flaunts about in joyous raiment, she will always be left at home while he goes abroad to enjoy himself.

If a young wife begins meeting a husband at the door with a sweet smile, and an ice pack when he comes home drunk, she'll have to keep doing it till the end of the chapter; if she forgives him every time he goes sidestepping, and lives him still, he won't think it worth while to be faithful to her, but if he knows that he has either got to walk straight or face divorce proceedings, it's the narrow path for him.

The only reason on earth that women, as a class, are more moral than men is because men have forced them to be. A man does not forgive an erring wife, and therefore women behave themselves, whereas the woman shuts her eyes to her husband's frailties, and he takes advantage of this to do as he pleases.

In my opinion the chief reason that men get tired of their wives is because the wives haven't got enough spirit and independence to make the matrimonial game interesting. It's human nature not to value those who hold themselves cheaply, and no woman ever does a more fatal thing for her own good than when she lets her husband find out that he can use her as he pleases, and she will meekly overlook it, and that her love is of the kind that nothing will kill.

Men Love Women Who Demand Most of Them

The women men love, and are faithful to, are the capricious, hard-to-please ladies, whose affections are as slippery as an eel, and if you will look about you, you will observe that the wives who demand most of their husbands not only get it, but have the husbands who are most devoted.

The foregoing remarks are intended as tips to young wives. The old wife who can still love a man who neglects and abuses her is not a subject for newspaper advice. She is a study for alienists.

Destruction of Birds for Women

—AND—

Substitutes for Murderous Millinery

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

NOW, while the agitation of woman's rights is going on, let all women give a thought to the rights of birds in God's beautiful world.

The season for Spring hats is here.

And here is a little extract from some statistics given by Henry Salt, in his booklet, "Animals' Rights," published in London:

"One dealer in London is said to have received as a single consignment 32,000 dead humming birds, 80,000 aquatic birds and 800,000 pairs of wings. A Parisian dealer had a contract for 40,000 birds, and an army of murderers were turned out to supply the order. No less than 40,000 terns have been sent from Long Island in one season for millinery purposes. At one auction alone in London there were sold 404,389 West Indian and Brazilian bird skins, and 356,339 East Indian, besides thousands of pheasants and birds of paradise."

The meaning of such statistics is simply that the women of Europe and America have given an order for the ruthless extermination of birds.

Due to Lack of Belief That Animals Have Rights

It is not seriously contended in any quarter that this wholesale destruction, effected often in the most revolting and heartless manner, is capable of excuse or justification, yet the efforts of those who address themselves to the better feelings of the offenders appear to meet with little or no success.

The cause of this failure must undoubtedly be sought in the general lack of any clear conviction that animals have rights, and the evil will never be thoroughly remedied until not only this particular abuse, but all such abuses, and the prime source from which such abuses originate, have been subjected to an impartial criticism.

In saying this I do not, of course, mean to imply that special efforts should not be directed against special cruelties.

I have already remarked that the main responsibility for the daily murders which fashionable millinery is instigating must lie at the door of those who demand, rather than those who supply, these hideous and funereal ornaments.

Unfortunately, the process, like that of slaughtering cattle, is throughout delegated to other hands than those of the ultimate purchaser, so that it is exceedingly difficult to bring home a due sense of blood-guiltiness to the right person.

Let every woman who claims to be more than a mere skeleton upon which fine apparel is hung, every woman who believes she has a heart and a mind, pause and consider the enormity of the crime against the feathered creatures of earth which fashionable millinery wages. And let her resolve to use her feminine ingenuity and taste in creating hats and bonnets for her own use which do not require the corpses of or feathers of dead birds to make them beautiful.

Plan Kind Deeds with Dead Birds on Their Hats

There is no more grotesque sight to behold than a woman's club luncheon, where women wearing every manner of bird decoration on their heads meet together to discuss the best ways of bringing kindness into the world and lessening cruelty.

Besides the cruel aspect of this question (subject, rather, since it is no question), there is the appalling FACT that the decrease of birds means the increase of insects and moths, and the consequent destruction of fruits, grains, vegetables and trees.

From an industrial, as well as a humane, point of view, women should organize a no-bird millinery movement.

Beautiful creations in headgear are fashioned out of ribbons, lace, ferns, flowers and jet.

Analyzed, the idea of carrying a dead bird, or anything which means the destruction of life, on the head, is monstrous, inartistic and senseless.

The wearing of furs can be defended by the argument that wild animals would soon own the earth if not destroyed, and that human beings need their skins to keep them from the cold.

But no such argument can be offered in excuse by the women who cause birds to be slaughtered by the millions for their use in head decorations.

Tell your milliner, dear lady, to fashion you the most exquisite hat possible out of nature's and art's inanimate articles.

Suggest ideas to her, and endeavor to produce something which shall be so beautiful it puts to shame the miniature butcher shops which other women sport.

Try to Persuade Every Woman to Aid the Cause

Talk this subject to your friends and to your enemies, and make it familiar to the minds of all women.

Refuse to belong to a club that does not consider this question one of importance to the progress of woman.

Make the women who attend your church ashamed of wearing dead birds. Refuse to believe in their religion until they cease to aid the cause of Murderous Millinery.

The Ol' Clo' Man

By JACOB J. LEIBSON

THE violets in woody dell
A merry message bring;
The crocus and arbutus tell
The advent of the Spring.
While in the city's caravan
There blossoms forth the ol' clo' man.

What tho' the verdant hills repeat
The blackbird's whistled note,
Or meadow rings with carol sweet
From early robin's throat,
The ol' clo' man upon his round
For me has notes of sweeter sound.

From far the breezes bring his tale
And anxiously I wait
To hear this welcome nightingale
Come warbling at my gate.
He lingers for a while, then goes,
And I have cash, and he has clo'es.

But ere Spring is on the wane
My cash has taken wing.
The ol' clo' man is here again.
And as I hear him sing,
The song that once with joy I heard
Is now the song of mockingbird.

ENGINEERS OF 50 ROADS TO STRIKE

Men on Eastern Lines Vote Overwhelmingly to Quit. Walkout Certain Unless the Railway Managers Make New Proposition.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Engineers of fifty Eastern railroads have voted overwhelmingly for a strike. The count of the votes was completed today.

Of the 25,700 engineers who responded to the referendum vote 93.1 per cent. voted in favor of the walkout.

The territory affected lies east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio and the Norfolk & Western railroad. The vote was taken following the refusal of the railroad heads to grant the demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, recently presented.

On passenger service the men demand $4 per 100 miles or less on engines with cylinders of twenty inches or under, and $4.60 when the cylinders are over that diameter, with excess miles computed pro rata, and seventy cents an hour for overtime. The freight rate calls for wages running from $5.25 for twenty-inch cylinder engines to $7 for the Mallet type; switchers, $4.50 a day, and belt line engines, $4.50 on a ten-hour basis, with numerous rules relating to the working conditions of the men in all branches of the service.

The question of a strike now hinges entirely on the action of a committee representing the railroad heads, to which Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the engineers' organization, addressed a letter asking them if they had any counter proposal to make. The railroad managers will meet Monday afternoon, April 15.

In addition to the vote of the engineers the members of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen also were permitted to vote, although the ballots were not entered in the count of the engineers.

"We will wait a reasonable time and unless the managers come forward with a counter proposition in reply to a letter I am mailing them today we will arrange for an immediate walkout," declared Mr. Stone today.

The demands affect 25,700 men in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, about 6,500 engineers in the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen who while working as engineers are not in the engineers' brotherhood and 2,600 engineers who are unaffiliated with either body.

Defaulter Shaw's Letters Are Missing

Missives Written by Mrs. Stuart, His Friend, Also Gone, Say Legal Interrogatories.

Letters written by Arthur W. Shaw, the Maine shoe man arrested in California on the charge of defaulting, to Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart, a woman friend in Boston, and letters written by her to him, are missing, it was learned today when interrogatories were filed in the Superior Court for the purpose of tracing the letters if possible. Lawyer Paul Lewis, of counsel for Mrs. Stuart, is trying to find the missing letters.

One of the letters Mrs. Stuart wrote to Shaw was read by some one other than Shaw in Los Angeles, as a result of which the bail of Mrs. Stuart, who had been arrested as an accessory, was increased.

Mrs. Stuart turned over to Receiver Bancroft $12,000 of the property that it was charged Shaw misappropriated. Mr. Bancroft brought suit against Mrs. Stuart for $7,000, alleging that that amount was still missing and that she was believed to know something about it.

Mrs. Stuart seeks to ascertain from Receiver Bancroft why he suspected her of knowing anything about the $7,000 said to be missing and if the receiver has any letters she wrote to Shaw. Mrs. Stuart wants to know particularly if a letter she wrote on February 19 to Shaw fell into the hands of others than to whom it was sent, if he knows, and if a all about it.

Sixty-seven interrogatories were filed for Mrs. Stuart to answer, by the receiver. These questions have to do with the missing $7,000 worth of bonds.

Like queries were filed and directed to Saul Weiss, who furnished bonds for Mrs. Stuart. Receiver Bancroft wants to know from him whether Mrs. Stuart turned over any bonds to him. The suit brought by Receiver Bancroft against Mrs. Stuart and Shaw in connection with the missing bonds comes up in the Equity Court next week.

Again Asks Court to Protect His Daughter

Rev. Mr. Alvord Says Young Man Has Renewed His Unwelcome Attentions to Girl.

The Rev. Henry C. Alvord, pastor of the Old South Congregational Church, South Weymouth, applied to Judge Avery in the Quincy District Court today for further protection for his daughter, Miss Ruth Alvord, against the attentions of A. Marshal Dean, the young man who was in court Wednesday for annoying the girl. Miss Alvord is a grammar school teacher in North Andover. She telephoned her father that Dean had followed her there.

Judge Avery re-issued the warrant against Dean. In court Wednesday he was fined $50 for disturbing the peace by obtruding himself on Miss Alvord, her father and her fiance, Max Storm, at Mr. Alvord's church Easter night. Then sentence was suspended six months.

Mr. Alvord said Dean had persisted in writing to and calling on Miss Alvord, though directed not to. Dean, the father said, declares Miss Alvord is his wife "in the sight of God." Miss Alvord is twenty-three years old and a graduate of Mount Holyoke College. Dean is thirty-one, a graduate of Yale, and lives at Allerton.

Jury Decides Against Horse Racing Judges

Owner of Trotter Suspended at Maine Fair Gets $708 Verdict.

BATH, Me., April 12.—In the Supreme Judicial Court of this city today the jury returned a verdict of $708.58 in favor of Frank W. Carleton of Warwick against the judges of horse racing at the Maine State Fair in Lewiston last September.

Mr. Carleton brought a suit for $1,500 against the judges, J. Stanley Nichols of Augusta, Otis C. Sylvester of Lewiston and Horace G. Fletcher of South Paris, for suspending his trotting stallion, Baron Siduni, and his driver, Alvert E. Bussell, for a period of sixty days for alleged foul driving.

Mr. Carleton appealed to the National Trotting Association, who reinstated the horse and driver eleven days after the suspension. He consequently brought suit for lack of good faith in the order of suspension.

This is the first case of its kind ever tried in a Maine court and attracted the attention of horsemen throughout the State.

CLARA BARTON, FAMOUS WAR NURSE, WHO DIED TODAY

CLARA BARTON

RICHESON CASE COST $7,030

Clarence V. T. Richeson, the self-confessed slayer of Avis Linnell, who will pay the penalty for his crime the week of May 19, next, has cost the County of Suffolk $7,030.61 to date. This cost is according to bills filed with the clerk of the Superior court, today.

These bills include the cost of investigation by detectives in the Boston Police department, State detectives and members of the Pinkerton agency. Witnesses were brought from many places. Doctors have sent in their bills for medical attendance when Richeson wounded himself at the Charles Street Jail and during his convalescence.

He has also had the services of lawyers for which the county has paid. The costing of Richeson's belongings from his house in Cambridge to the court house and the hire of carriages for him and witnesses have been paid by the county.

Yet the County of Suffolk is a great deal in pocket, due to Richeson's confession. If he had gone to trial, the cost of keeping court, the pay of officers, the lodging of witnesses from near and far, the pay of the jury and scores of other items, would have brought the cost to the county it is said up to $50,000 more.

After Richeson is taken to the death cell in the execution chamber of the State Prison, within ten days of the fifth of May, the cost of his keep while there, the payment for the electrician, whose duty it is to throw the switch that will send the electricity through Richeson's body, and the charges of the undertaker will be assumed by the State.

PARIS SHAKEN BY BOMB IN TAXICAB

PARIS, April 12.—A bomb exploded inside a taxicab in the rue de Lyon today. The force of the explosion shook the greater part of the city and wrecked the motor car. The chauffeur and soup pedestrians were injured. The outrage is believed to have been committed by chauffeurs, many of whom have been on strike for over two months.

CLARA BARTON IS DEAD

Aged Head of American Red Cross Passes Away at Home at Glen Echo, Md., Today, After a Long Period of Feeble Health.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Clara Barton, head of the American Red Cross, died at her home in Glen Echo, Md., today.

Born in North Oxford.

Clarissa Harlowe Barton was born in North Oxford, Mass., Christmas Day, in 1821, a daughter of Captain Stevens and Dolly (Stone) Barton. Her father participated in the conflict with the Indians in the West and her grandfather was in the service under "Mad Anthony" Wayne. She completed her education in the academy at Clinton, N. Y., and became a teacher at Bordentown, N. J., where she established the first free school in New Jersey. This school opened with six pupils, but in a very short time had 600. Inside of a year a schoolhouse was erected at a cost of $4,000.

She had the distinction of being the first woman ever employed by the United States Department of the Interior, beginning government work as a clerk in 1854. She offered her services to the War Department when she heard of the assault upon the Sixth Massachusetts regiment at Baltimore. Through her efforts train loads of supplies were forwarded to the front for the relief of the soldiers in the Civil War.

She visited the hospitals and went with the Army of the Potomac and nursed the wounded on the battlefields. Miss Barton superintended the forwarding of supplies. Surgeons and commanding generals, as well as the officers at Washington, appreciated her good judgment and placed at her disposal every facility possible.

When the Civil War closed there 8,000 names of missing men on the muster roll of the United States, and Miss Barton instituted the bureau of missing men. She was the means of stones being placed over the graves of 12,920 soldiers at Andersonville, and had it not been for her efforts Andersonville would have remained a barren waste.

Through the efforts of Miss Barton and Mme. Elizabeth Turner of Boston, the Woman's Relief Corps bought the prison grounds. Miss Barton continued her work four years, expending $15,000 of her own money. Upon approval of President Lincoln Miss Barton was reimbursed by Congress.

Miss Barton took a trip to Europe in 1869 with the idea of having a complete rest, but when she arrived at Geneva, Switzerland, members of the international committee of the Red Cross were in session in securing the adoption by the United States of a letter from the World of the Red Cross. The Red Cross had been founded in Switzerland six years before.

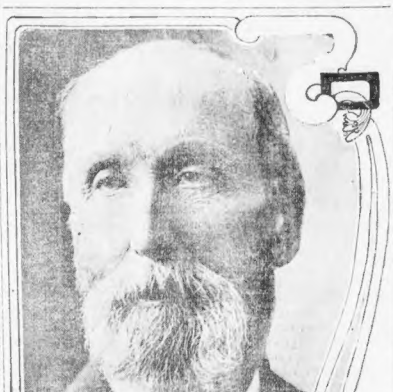
Miss Barton was still in Switzerland when the war between France and Prussia broke out. She accompanied the representatives of the Red Cross to the front, as they desired her to direct the work as she had done during the Civil War. In recognition of her splendid work, Miss Barton was presented with the iron cross of Germany by the Kaiser.

Miss Barton returned to America in 1873, but she suffered from poor health and it was two years before she was able to go to Washington. She visited President Hayes and presented him with an official letter from President Moynier of the international committee of the Red Cross. President Hayes referred the matter to Secretary of War Evarts. Nothing definite was heard of the matter until after James A. Garfield was elected President. He referred the matter to Secretary of State James G. Blaine, who promoted the operation.

Encouraged by this official promise of assistance, Miss Barton called a meeting of friends in Washington, April 1, 1881, and which resulted in the founding of the American National Association of the Red Cross. A constitution was adopted and Miss Barton was elected president. The sanction of the treaty by the United States was officially made public by President Arthur July 26, 1882, and on August 1 of the same year was promulgated from the office of the Secretary of State.

The first work following the great forest fires of Michigan was undertaken almost before the organization of the society in 1881. When the Ohio and Mississippi floods came in 1884 the Red Cross was the first to launch boats, saving people and stock. In the Texas famine in 1887 the Red Cross did wonderful work. During the yellow fever epidemic at Florida in 1888, the Mt. Vernon incident in the same year, the Johnstown disaster in 1889 and the Charleston, Mass., flood in 1891, the Red Cross was officially represented. Relieving the injured and forwarding provisions.

GEORGE E. MARSH SHOT TO DEATH



George E. Marsh, Murder Victim.

Wealthy Soap Manufacturer Found in Marsh Believed Carried There After Death.

George E. Marsh, a rich retired soap manufacturer of Lynn, seventy-five years old, was found murdered on West Lynn marshes today, the victim, the police believe, of some enemy who deliberately planned and carried out a deadly plot for revenge.

Mr. Marsh was shot six times, once in the head, once in the shoulder, twice through the heart and twice in the abdomen. The murderer made absolutely sure that his victim was dead.

It is thought a woman may have figured the fusillade of bullets. The number of shots indicates the murderer was inspired by a frenzy of rage against the victim. The way one shot after another was fired lends the police to view it as the work of an infuriated woman. Men, they say, seldom fire so many shots, especially fatal ones.

After the body as removed by the city examination of the ground showed a wheelbarrow track, comparatively fresh, leading from where the body was found along a pathway to the railroad tracks one hundred yards distant.

The police believe that the first shot was the one behind the ear and that it was fired from back of the victim.

Body Carried to the Spot.

The murder was probably not committed on the marsh where the body was found. Medical Examiner Joseph G. Pinkham said previous to performing the autopsy:

"From a casual examination of the body, I would say that Mr. Marsh was never murdered on the marsh. His body was brought there from parts unknown and was thrown over the fence of Lynnway boulevard. The left side of the body struck against the rocks of the embankment which make up the roadway.

"There is no evidence of a struggle. Mr. Marsh was shot down in cold blood."

The assassin or assassins not only escaped, but left, so far as the police can find now, no clew to their identity.

That the murder was committed somewhere else than at the place where the body was found, and that the body was carried to the Lynnway boulevard and thrown over the fence into the swamp, indicates to the minds of the police, a carefully planned plot to kill Mr. Marsh.

At first it was thought robbery was the motive. But Mr. Marsh's watch, a valuable one, and a roll of bills were found intact.

Both theories of the robbery theory. Then the police turned to the theory of a cold-blooded murder, plotted for revenge or for some other motive sufficient to induce such a deed.

Last Seen Alive.

The last seen of Mr. Marsh alive was when he was measured for a new suit at a tailor's yesterday afternoon at the tailoring shop of Parker & Stone on Exchange street, Lynn.

He had an appointment to meet at the C. A. Alleyn Co. in Lynn yesterday afternoon with his brother, Arthur Marsh. When he failed to keep the appointment Arthur Marsh thought nothing particular about it. The brothers lived daily if they happened to meet at the alleys. But they had no fixed rule about it.

The police are looking into the personal affairs of Mr. Marsh so far as possible, hunting a possible motive for a murder for revenge.

Man of Large Affairs.

Mr. Marsh was a man of large affairs and may have, in the course of business, incurred a mortal enmity.

He founded the Goodwill Soap Company, a big concern. Two years ago he sold out to the Swift Interests, in Chicago, with the agreement that he was to remain

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, New York, April 12.—The Highlanders faced the Boston Red Sox in the second game of the series here this afternoon, and there was blood in the eyes of the New York players. Manager Wolverton was sore on the Boston boys, as were most of his players, including Caldwell, and they were out for revenge.

Manager Stahl marshled all of his pitchers out on the side lines half an hour before the game started for a good warming up process, and he looked at Buck O'Brien and nodded his head at him. Manager Wolverton picked Russell Ford to do the initial duty, and when the game started the fans leaned back in their seats and expected one pitching battle.

The New York fans seem to respect Buck O'Brien. His work of last season has been remembered by the fans and they did not talk too freely about the Highlanders trimming the Red Sox. Ford has been performing in good shape this year and the bleachcrites rooted hard for him to show the Speed Boys something.

The weather was perfect and during practice the players of both teams displayed a lot of speed. A good sized crowd was out and many Boston rooters were noticeable in the grand stand and in the third base seats. It is the impression here that Jake Stahl's boys will cut a little figure in the race this season as all of the Boston people here are getting out the grounds.

The good game of yesterday aroused the fans and at the start of the game today they were rooting hard for a New York victory. One and a couple of the other players who performed in good style yesterday were seen roosting on the bench, but still the fans did not forget Wood, Stahl and Lewis, who did a great deal to win the game yesterday in the ninth session.

SOUTH END PARK, April 12.—Another big crowd was out this afternoon, piloted by yesterday's unfailing visitor for the Pilgrims in the hope of seeing "Red" Doolin's pennant running Quakers beaten cords by Johnny Kling's outfit. Kling expected to serve up a good pitcher in the shape of George A. Tyler, his favorite sidewheeler. But the Phillies proved to be so unmerciful to right-hand hooting assembly that it thought he might cut loose for Donnelly, his left hand artist at the last moment.

Tyler and Seaton were the choice of the Philadelphia pitchers. Doolin was eager to take the second game, as the Philadelphia National League pastors, after seeing their hopes beat Connie Mack's world champions, had hoped to see Boston lose three straight in this series, and they would be heart-hearted if Kling cleaned up a majority of the three games.

TALK UNITED SHOE ACTION AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The hearing of the Supreme Court's recent patent monopoly decision on the government's civil and criminal suits against the United Shoe Machinery Company has been discussed at the Department of Justice. It is expected the defendants in the criminal case will ask to have the indictments quashed. Attorney-General Wickersham, his assistant, James A. Fowler; William A. Gregg, special assistant to the Attorney General, and United States Attorney French of Boston talked over the means of meeting such action.

WEALTHY LYNN MAN MURDERED

president and operating head of the company with a life policy of $25,000 a year. He was reputed to be worth $500,000 at least. He had money invested in various interests.

On March 9 the March case attracted to the United States Supreme Court, pending in the case of the North American Rubber Company. certain promoters are being prosecuted on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Mr. March was to have been a witness again today in a continued hearing of the same case.

In his social relations there is nothing so far to be found to throw any light on the man's end in this tragic end. He was a widower, living with his sister at No. 15 Ireson avenue, East Lynn. He was a Mason and a member of the Oxford Club, the business men's organization in Lynn, which is rated as the richest men's club in Essex county. His life was, so far as known, the ordinary routine of business and pleasure that would be expected of a man of several decades' years who refused to retire from active work, though well able to do so.

Didn't Meet Brother.

Arthur March, brother of the victim, says:

"We bowled daily at the Y. M. C. A. Sometimes my brother would get there first; sometimes I would. We would usually chat for awhile before rolling on the alleys. Yesterday he did not arrive and I concluded that he must have been detained by some business engagement. After waiting for a while I gave up hope of bowling for the afternoon and left the Y. M. C. A."

The body of Mr. March was found at 10:15 by a party of automobilists spinning along the Lynnway boulevard. One happened to be the form of a person lying just over the Lynnway fence on the marsh, the auto was stopped. The autoists were horrified to find the body of a well-dressed man, lying face up, with a bruise or gash just showing back of the left ear.

The autoist left the body, put on speed and reported the murder to the Lynn police.

Inspectors Stacey Burckes and William Murray and Patrolman James Linehan went to the spot.

The place where the body lay is on the north side of the Lynn marshes, 500 yards west of West Lynn station of the Narrow Gauge Railroad and about 300 yards from the West Lynn garage.

The place is lonely and favorable to a hold-up, murder or other desperate act. The policemen surveyed the body, but did not disturb it. They naturally thought of a holdup and robbery. One of the party slipped a hand into Mr. March's coat pocket and drew forth letters showing who the man was.

The police knew Mr. March had a grease refinery on the marshes. A theory was formed that, when returning from an afternoon trip to the refinery, Mr. March was held up, killed and robbed.

Examination of the road showed specks of red, taken for dried blood. A button was missing from Mr. March's overcoat. A button, matching the set, was found in the road. The police thought Mr. March had been struck down in the road, dragged to the fence and hurled over to the lower marsh ground.

Then Medical Examiner Pinkham arrived. Kneeling by the body, Dr. Pinkham opened the vest, shirt and undershirt and said immediately:

"This man was shot, shot three or four times."

Dr. Pinkham had the body taken immediately to an undertaker's and arranged to perform an autopsy.

He made a preliminary examination which showed six bullet holes in the body, also the presence of Mr. March's watch and money.

This destroyed the robbery theory and gave rise for the first time to the idea of a deliberately planned murder for revenge or some other cause.

Six Bullet Wounds.

After a little further examination Dr. Pinkham found six bullet wounds. One was back of the left ear. It was that which was taken first for a gash or bruise, inflicted by some club or other blunt instrument.

Another wound was in the left shoulder. Two bullets had gone in over the heart. One had struck the little bronze G. A. R. button Mr. March wore in the lapel of his coat.

There were two more bullet wounds in the abdomen. The man had been fairly riddled with bullets, as though the assassin or assassins had shot at him again and again. The wounds were more than enough to kill. The repeated shots indicate, to the police, a revengeful fury, as though the person or persons who planned and executed the murder plot only stopped shooting when the revolver was empty.

The police and the Medical Examiner are satisfied, from the nature of the wounds and from the few facts they have picked up regarding his moments yesterday, that he neither was a suicide, nor had any suspicion of the end in store for him.

No man, the police say, could have fired the six shots, so many of them deadly ones, which were directed at him.

Ordered a New Suit.

Then he ordered a new Spring suit only yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He planned in a perfectly normal condition then. An hour before that he was seen walking through Central square.

He was planning a trip to California soon to visit his son, James March. In every detail, so far as the police can discover, Mr. March's life and affairs were well ordered.

Clews in Autopsy.

Beyond the discovery of the body, no knowledge that Mr. March was killed, undoubtedly murdered, and that robbery was probably not the motive, the police have little on which to work so far.

The autopsy was expected to show about how long Mr. March had been dead when the body was found at 10:15. The first estimate made by the police was twelve hours.

That would place the time of the killing at 10 o'clock last night.

There was no report in Lynn today of six revolver shots being heard on the marshes. West Lynn, last night, nor in any other section of the city. But the marshes are wide and lonely and six shots might be fired out in the wastes without being heard.

The Lynnway boulevard, close to which the body was found, is a well-traveled thoroughfare, however. The police feel the crime was not committed on the road but at some remote place. The body could easily be brought to the boulevard, dragged out of a wagon or automobile and cast over the fence, without attracting attention.

Inspector Burckes and Inspector Murray, who have been detailed on the case, find that anyone with a deadly grievance against Mr. March might have planned an attack on him without great difficulty. He was a man of regular habits, always accessible and apt to take the lonely walk out to his grease rendering plant on the marshes when he thought the business required.

The headquarters of the soap plant were at the factory, No. 293 Chestnut street.

Mr. March usually could be found at the factory or refinery in midday business hours. If not there, he would be at the Y. M. C. A. alleys, at the Oxford Club or at his home.

He left home yesterday noon. He said nothing particular about his intentions for the afternoon. The inspectors are trying to trace his movements from the time he left the tailor shop.

LAWSON IN COURT AS WITNESS IN THE PARROT MINE SUIT

Thomas W. Lawson was among the witnesses to appear today before Charles K. Darling, clerk of the United States District Court, sitting as a Commissioner. The hearing was called to take depositions in the suit of Louis Foss and others against the Parrot Silver & Copper Mining Company and the Anaconda Mining Company.

The suit is brought by Foss, a minority stockholder in the Parrot company, asking to have the merger of the two companies dissolved, on the grounds that it is a violation of the Sherman antitrust law.

The deposition of Mr. Lawson was not taken until afternoon. Charles H. Bowen, secretary of the American Trust Company, which acted as transfer agents for the Parrot company, was also a witness. Robert Winsor of Kidder, Peabody & Co. was excused.

BADLY HURT BY FALL.

Allen Smith of No. 18 Morse street, Woburn, fell today from a building on Kilsythe road, Brookline, owned by H. P. Singer, and received serious injuries. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital. At the hospital it is thought that Smith will live.

NOON RALLY BY ROOSEVELT MEN

James R. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior, and Judge Oscar R. Hundley of Alabama spoke at the noonday Roosevelt rally in Faneuil Hall today, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Roosevelt campaign committee. Attorney James F. Magenis presided. There were about 600 present, including several women.

Lawyer Magenis declared that the Republican party of Massachusetts had discriminated against the rank and file in favor of a privileged class.

Roused by Roosevelt.

"The Republican party of this State has forgotten completely the shiploads after shiploads of immigrants who come to our shores to be assimilated in our public schools," said the lawyer. "The party has discriminated against negroes and immigrants. It is not the people's party and is not in touch with the needs of the people. It has been a signal failure.

"This year for the first time a son of an immigrant, our friend Cavanagh, has been selected as a delegate-at-large on the Massachusetts primary slate. The party is beginning to realize that it must give the immigrants and the Irish some representation because it is afraid of Roosevelt."

Mr. Garfield said:

"It is said that Roosevelt is disloyal to Taft. What is meant? Wherein does the disloyalty appear?

"Roosevelt asks for no personal loyalty to himself. He asks for loyalty to the public, to the great policies and measures that the public approved and demanded. He is opposed to President Taft for no personal reason, but because the President has failed to carry out the promises that he and his party made to the nation."

Reward of Merit.

"The Republicans of the country are urged to renominate Mr. Taft because it has been the custom to give a renomination to a President," said Mr. Garfield. "Let us examine such a custom. If it is reasonable, well and good. If not it should not obtain. "It is an American habit and a good one that men shall earn their rewards, not have them freely given. As the laborer earns his wage by honest, efficient labor, so a public officer earns the confidence of the people by efficient, faithful service; and such service must be the basis for any claim by him to renomination.

"Measured by this rule, we Progressive Republicans insist that President Taft has not proved himself entitled to renomination. He has failed to be a militant, wise leader of the nation.

"Four years ago certain definite pledges were made by the Republican party, by Mr. Taft as its candidate, to carry forward the policies that had been inaugurated in the Roosevelt administration, and approved by the people of the country.

SAYS MORGAN RULES FINANCE

WASHINGTON, April 12—As the hearings drew to a close, expert accountants for the Stanley Steel Investigating Committee began the preparation today of a great mass of statistical data which will accompany the report of the committee. The report will contain more than 5,000 pages of testimony. It is understood the investigators will lay especial stress upon the close relationship between the steel trust and the great railroad system and that Congress will be informed that less than a score of financiers, headed by J. Pierpont Morgan, absolutely dominate the steel, railroad and banking business of the United States.

WILL ALLOW SALE OF RHODE ISLAND COAL PROPERTY

Judge Dodge of the United States District Court today said that he would issue an order for John T. Burnett, receiver of the Rhode Island Coal Company, to sell the property in Massachusetts. He added that the terms could not be made known until after a similar sale of the property in Rhode Island.

STOMACH SOUR, HEADACHY, BILIOUS, BOWELS CONSTIPATED? CASCARETS

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

REV. F. E. CLARK IS HOME AGAIN

Rev. Francis E. Clark, president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, returned to his office in Tremont Temple today after a six months' trip through Europe and Asia Minor, having arrived on the steamship Cedric. While abroad Dr. Clark attended numerous conventions of Christian Endeavorers, and in Turkey he had an opportunity of observing the results of the Turco-Italian war.

"I was surprised at the comparative quiet among the people in Asiatic Turkey," said Dr. Clark, today. "They seemed to have no great knowledge or concern about the war. In Macedonia I found the people much more excited. They were alert and there was something of a war spirit. I noticed that the railroads were closely guarded by troops, every precaution being taken to prevent the wrecking of bridges or trains by spies or disaffected subjects of the Sultan.

"The indifference in Turkey proper, I think, can be accounted for by the lack of newspapers to carry the news quickly. Then, too, the fact that Arabs were doing most of the fighting at the front had caused no immediate drain on the Turkish troops, so the usual effects of war were not so noticeable. In Macedonia the chief fear seemed to be that the Albanians might seize the chance to break out in open rebellion.

"An instance of how well guarded the Turkish coast is was given at Salonica, where our steamer entered up a narrow channel, conveyed by tugs, to steer clear of the mines that filled the bay."

Dr. Clark attended meetings as far north as St. Petersburg. One of the features of his journey was to cover about the same ground that St. Paul went over 1,900 years ago. He also visited the seven cities of Asia mentioned in the Bible, some in ruins and others still flourishing.

WEST SOMERVILLE, WHERE THEY PAY PASTOR PROMPTLY

"The church people over in West Somerville pay their minister's salary before they pay their coal bills," said Rev. C. S. Sleight, pastor of St. James' Episcopal Church, West Somerville, in his sermon at dress today in St. Paul's Church. Mr. Sleight told how the residents in his locality like to go to church, but they have only three churches for 50,000 inhabitants.

"You can't blame people over in West Somerville for cutting and trimming their lawns on Sundays when the churches are not large enough to accommodate all that would like to go," he said.

POLLUTED WATER MAKES SEVERAL OF KNOX PARTY ILL

HAVANA, April 12.—Seventy members of Secretary Knox's party are ill from drinking contaminated water, although their condition is not serious. All are taxed out with the round of official and private entertainments on the long tour through the Caribbean countries, and are looking forward to Saturday evening, when the cruiser Washington will sail for the United States. Secretary Knox and his aides motored through Havana, then to a sugar plantation, forty miles inland, today. This evening United States Minister Beaupre will give a dinner, to be followed by a State ball.

CONTEMPT PETITION IS DENIED BY COURT

Judge Dodge in the United States District Court today denied the petitions for contempt of court brought against Warren B. Wheeler and Stillman Shaw and their counsel, Rounsey Spring. Wheeler and Shaw were agents of the North American Rubber Company, and during the grand jury investigations they refused to bring the books and papers of the company for the jurors' inspection. Spring refused to tell the jury whether he had the books. The charges were brought by George Willard Martin, foreman of the Federal Grand Jury. Judge Dodge said he denied the petitions because they were too sweeping and too indefinite.

Boston Man Goes to Help Prosecute Hackett Case

Was Sweetheart of Slain Girl in Maine Mystery

Lester Lyon Received a Letter From Girl on Day of Tragedy.

Will Do All in His Power to Aid in Solving State's Strangest Crime.

Hoping that he may be able to assist in clearing up the murder of his sweetheart, Mattie Hackett, Lester P. Lyon of No. 353 M street, South Boston, has gone to Readfield, Me., to take part in the investigation of the strange strangling of the girl seven years ago.

Mrs. Elsie Hobbs Raymond, who knew Mattie Hackett and was reported to have been jealous of attention paid the girl by her husband, Bert Raymond, is a prisoner in the jail at Augusta, awaiting trial on the charge of having committed the crime. Mrs. Raymond was indicted for murder in the first degree.

EVELYN RAYMOND, DAUGHTER OF ACCUSED WOMAN.

Mrs. Raymond appears to be concerned a great deal more on account of being separated from her little daughter Evelyn, four years old, than about the ordeal of the trial through which she will have to go. She keeps crying for the girl continuously, but the authorities have decided not to allow the little girl to go to the jail to live.

To Help Clear Mystery.

Lyon had known Mattie Hackett for a couple of years before she was killed. He received a letter from her dated the day she was killed. He thinks that in the light of facts that have recently come to the attention of County Prosecutor Williamson he may aid in clearing up one of the most cunning as well as the most atrocious crimes that ever took place in Maine.

Before going to Maine, Lyon chatted about his acquaintance with Mattie Hackett. He had met her while camping near her home, the friendship had been kept up and the girl had visited his mother in South Boston. They were both young, but they were deeply interested in each other and looked forward to the time they might marry.

But Mattie Hackett never had a hint of her impending fate, or, if she did, she never intimated it to Lyon, and the young man can assign no motive for the crime that shocked the quiet little settlement of Readfield. He does not even believe in the suspicions in the case that have been voiced in Maine during the years that have passed since the girl was called from her home in the dusk of an August evening and her young life choked out with a cord that was thrown about her neck and knotted so that the victim dropped helpless and died before the cord was discovered.

"No, I have never married or thought of it since Mattie was killed," said Mr. Lyon. "Perhaps I never shall, but that would be telling more than I care to. There are things that are too sacred to discuss with the public.

Were Never Engaged.

"I can't even say that Mattie and I were ever engaged. We were mighty good friends and, well—you know I don't like to say much now about how we felt toward each other. If I thought that I could clear up the mystery or help Mr. Hackett's family in any way I would be glad to tell the proper authorities all that I know.

"But I really know so little concerning the details of the terrible tragedy that I can not now and never have been able to give the police any aid in finding the murderer.

"I met Mattie in the Summer of 1905 while I was camping near Readfield. Then I saw her again in Lewiston. We went on a few dances and I saw her every day that I was there. When I left we did not drop our acquaintance, but corresponded during the Winter. How frequently? Well, I don't exactly remember, but not every day or anything like that. Perhaps once or twice a week.

Letter on Day of Tragedy.

"I received a letter from her when I went home from work on that awful Thursday. And it was a typical specimen of her letters, bright, jolly, interesting and full of life. A few hours later the doorbell rang and I went to the door and it was the delivery of the telegram from Mr. Hackett, telling me that Mattie was dead.

"I had not seen Mattie for some time before that. I guess it was about a month or more. I was down in Maine on my vacation and of course I saw her then. She was at our home in South Boston and stayed for a few days. My mother liked her very much and I think that Mattie felt the same toward her.

"I was not earning enough at that time to permit me to marry, otherwise things might have been different. I had plans and I hoped that by hard work and sticking to it I would be able to crawl up the ladder until I would be able to ask a girl to marry me and know that I could support her properly.

"I have never had what might be called a real suspicion as to the identity of the criminal or even whether it was a man or a woman. If Mattie had any enemies or had ever had any trouble with former suitors, she did not tell me about it and I certainly would never have asked her. I do know how she felt about living on the farm, but the reason she gave for this dislike, if she was dissatisfied, would not have anything to do with a clew to the murderer.

Mystery in Motive.

"I have been down there three and have of course heard a great deal about the happenings on that evening. Through most of this talk there has run a general suspicion, but from what I personally know I do not believe it is true. In fact I would be the last one to hold this same suspicion for various reasons. Not any of the people that I have ever talked to could ever give me a clear idea of what motive the murderer could have had. And perhaps I have gone into this end to some extent.

"But I do hope that it will cleared up some time and the sooner the better. I am sure that the Hackett family would feel relieved and I know that it would mean considerable to me."

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT YOUR STOMACH?

MRS. HOSLEY WILL ENTER CONVENT

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Washington society is much interested in the announcement that Mrs. Hosley, widow of Commander H. H. Hosley, United States Navy, has definitely decided upon becoming a nun, and will, according to her present plans, be received into the Order of the Sacred Heart next week.

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, inability to hold urine, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention the Boston Daily American.

Why Be a Year Behind The Style?

Why let your appearance advertise you as just one of the "Crowd." Why not be in your dress as you strive to be in mind, a little above the average, a little in advance of the "Mob."

Why not wear things while they're new, instead of waiting till everybody else wears them. In short, why not come to GEORGES, where everything is the product of custom style creators, including some of the most famous of Fifth Avenue, New York, where every garment is a full year ahead of readymade in style, yet which sell at merely readymade prices—

$12 to $40

Try out this style assertion. See how impossible it is to find the equal of our new short belted-back top coats, or our Americanized English soft roll sacks, or our Bordeau shades, etc., etc. Over 7000 Sack, Walking, Prince Albert, Dress and Tuxedo Suits, Spring Overcoats etc., to choose from.

Occasionally alterations are necessary to perfect the fit of a garment. In such cases, our Master Tailormen make them in a manner to preserve the custom lines, without cost to you.

Glad to welcome you as a looker.

ADDRESSED TO WOMEN

Hot Flashes—Dizziness

Are among the most common of the many danger signals nature sends in advance of that period in a woman's life when her delicate organism undergoes an important change. It is a warning. Serious consequences may follow any carelessness just at this time. Your health must have first consideration.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

This Famous Prescription has brought relief under these circumstances to hundreds of thousands of women during the past forty years. Makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Your Druggist Will Supply You

Every woman is invited to write and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost, from a physician who makes the ills of women his specialty.

"Bedfast—For Two Years"

World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.:
Gentlemen—I shall write you testimonial as soon as I can, as I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep. Had a very poor appetite. Had such an awful bearing down pain and such dreadful headaches. My tongue would be heavily coated every morning and would get so dizzy. I am 46 years old. Have been having change of life. Doctored for it, but got no relief. Was bedfast. Then one of my friends got me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. Now I can sleep good at night. My tongue is not coated and your medicines have removed many of my ailments. I know if I had taken six bottles more I would have been cured. I was about bedfast for two years, now I do all my work and attend to my garden and chickens. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines too highly. Yours respectfully,
Mrs. GEORGE EWELL.

ANNE MORGAN FOR JIU JITSU

NEW YORK, April 12.—Working girls will be taught how to protect themselves against assaults and street crowdies by Japanese Jiu Jitsu wrestlers from the circus at the sixth vacation evening at Terrace Garden, No. 145 East Fifty-eighth street. The wrestlers will appear at the request of Miss Anne Morgan. Miss Morgan said:

"I wish it to be understood that this vacation movement for the working girls is in no sense a philanthropy. The girls are merely encouraged in saving the money they themselves earn. Through co-operation the plan works out with great success. The money saved by the girls is already nearly $10,000, and this is deposited in a lump sum when it is drawing interest. Ten or fifteen cents a week is scarcely missed by the girls, but next Summer it will be a tidy little sum.

"The splendid spirit of the movement has drawn other girls into it and this will mean that hundreds of girls who have never known what it was to have a vacation in their lives before will spend a week in the country or at the seashore next Summer. And they have done it all by their own efforts."

World's Record for Sunday School Class

Twelve Boys at Methodist Church, Pittsfield, Have Record of Perfect Attendance for 50 Weeks.

PITTSFIELD, April 12.—A class of twelve boys, most of whom live from two to four miles from the Methodist Sunday School here, has beaten the world's record for perfect attendance, having 100 per cent. for fifty consecutive weeks.

Superintendent of the School Goodrich entertained the class at a dinner, when the Evans Class Club was organized, with Sumner Holt as president and Harold May as secretary. The church, in recognition of the class record, has presented its members with gold pins.

$90,000 EAST HARTFORD FIRE

HARTFORD, Ct., April 12.—A large area of East Hartford was destroyed today by fire, which caused $190,000 loss. One hundred families were made homeless and many buildings were destroyed. Twenty-three buildings were in the blaze, which originated in the Cheney Woodworking Company's plant in Prospect Boulevard, spread with terrific rapidity. The East Hartford fire department was unable to cope with the situation and assistance was summoned from Hartford.

Fire is believed to have originated in a gas explosion. Just before the flames were discovered there was a terrific detonation in the factory which was heard for many miles. Immediately the structure burst into flames, and sparks were hurled in all directions. Carried by the wind, the flames started other fires in several different quarters.

The woodworking plant was situated in the midst of a tenement district inhabited chiefly by foreigners, who were thrown into a panic by the flames and fled from their homes. All the police in East Hartford were rushed to the scene to handle the frightened fire refugees. They were unable to do so, and reserves were sent from Hilford.

Bloodhound Saves Bridge in Mexico

Animal Discovers Party of Insurrectors Preparing to Dynamite Structure; Explosives Are Captured.

MCKEE, Tex., April 12.—A bloodhound prevented Mexican insurrectors from dynamiting the bridge of Devil's river, two miles west of here on the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railroad. The dog ranging ahead of one of the section hands, detected a band of Mexicans, gave a cry and flushed a dozen rebels in camp under the approach to the bridge.

The track walker ran back to McKee and told his story to the railroad operator. A Southern Pacific Railroad motor car bearing Captain Luke Dowie and four of his Texas Rangers, United States Deputy Marshal Warren and two secret service men, were soon on their way from Del Rio to Devil's river bridge.

In the meantime the track walker and telegraph operator Wyatt at McKee had returned to the bridge, two miles away with rifles. They were just in time to see the Mexicans lassoing their horses and hastily riding toward the interior on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. Under the bridge they found a plant of twelve dynamite cartridges, sixteen bomb-made bombs and thirteen boxes of cartridges.

MAN ESCAPES BANDITS' GUNS

WARREN, N. H., April 12.—Henry Harvey, a merchant, was fired upon by highwaymen who held him up at Clough Crossing, one and one-half miles from here, while he was driving home from Oak Hill at 1:15 o'clock today. One bullet went through the cloth of his left coat sleeve at the shoulder, just grazing the flesh. The other went through his hat, cutting his scalp. The highwaymen were after men having Warren Sounds on a freight train.

Harvey is senior partner in the firm of Harvey & Houghton. He has experienced a number of accidents. A few years ago he shot himself in the right leg. Later the fingers of his left hand were cut off by a threshing machine. Then Harvey's right leg was broken. Last year his left foot was cut off in a railroad train.

HIGH-O-ME

That's the Proper Way to Pronounce HYOMEI, the Famous Catarrh Remedy Made from Australian Eucalyptus and Other Antiseptics—Just Breathe It.

It Banishes Catarrh

Getting rid of catarrh is no easy matter if you still rely on a common sense method.

Some cause catarrh. You know that and how often their use only increases catarrh you must destroy the germs. Sprays and douches will not kill the germs. Liquid cannot penetrate into the folds and crevices of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. Neither can it reach the lungs, so even the tubes that lead to the lungs.

But every HYOMEI outfit, which is sold by druggists everywhere, there is a bottle of antiseptic liquid that will kill catarrh germs.

Pour a few drops of the liquid into the little hard rubber inhaler which comes with the outfit and breathe this into the lungs, spreading it over the membrane of the nose and throat infested with catarrh germs.

It's pleasant, soothing and healing, as this vaporized air, and it is really the only remedy known that can reach and destroy catarrh germs and end the misery and humiliation that catarrh causes. Complete outfit $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOMEI if needed cost only 50 cents. Druggists everywhere sell HYOMEI. It is guaranteed not to contain cocaine, opium or other habit-forming drugs.

$4,000 THEATRE ENTRANCE RENT

If William A. Edwards and Harry Farren, former lessees of the Columbia Theatre, want to use the entrance to the theatre to which they claim they are entitled, they will have to pay an annual rental of $4,000, according to a report today by Attorney Fred T. Field, who heard the case as master.

Edwards and Farren held the lease for a number of years, under a lease from the Home Savings Bank, which foreclosed. The property was then bought by Mr. Marcus Loew of New York, the theatrical man, and the house was opened as a vaudeville theatre under the name of the South End.

The former owners claimed that they were at least entitled to the entrance which they had built. It was settled through the Supreme Court on many legal questions, and was referred to a master for its findings.

He says that the entrance is only good for that purpose, and can't be used as a theatre. They can not keep the house open to do business, sell tickets or take in money, even if they do put the name of the house. He finds that a fair annual rental for the theatre and the Grove entrance including the booths, is $10,000. The master places the value of the entrance at one-fourth of the entire building.

He places the valuation of the entire property at $165,000 and finds that the plaintiffs, Farren and Edwards, were entitled to their use of the property. He stated that this entrance was of no value to the owners, they can be restrained from using it by paying the rental of $4,000 for a term of three years.

CUTTER LECTURE AT HARVARD SCHOOL

"Some Recent Advances in Our Knowledge of Certain Infectious Diseases" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered by Dr. John F. Anderson, director of the Hygienic Laboratory, Public Health and Marine service, in Building D at the Harvard Medical School at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of May 1. This is one of a series of lectures to be given annually at the Harvard Medical School under the terms of the will of John Cutter.

NEW ZEALAND UNABLE TO FIND BOSTON MAN

After extensive and secret search of the registry authorities in New Zealand have notified Representative Cassidy through the state department, no trace can be found of Frank Mc[illegible] Jr., of Dorchester, who went to Auckland some time ago. Hetson Cassidy yesterday directed that a description of McLean be sent upon the wires of every postoffice in New Zealand, in the hope that it would bring some tidings of the missing man.

DOUBLE COMMERCE WITH PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A report issued today by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, of the trade of the United States with the Philippine Islands for the year ended June 30 since the enactment in 1909 of the law providing for the free interchange of products between those islands and the United States. The total trade with the Philippine Islands for the eight months ending February, 1912 amounted to over $50,000,000.

FATAL EXPRESS TRAIN WRECK

NORTH STRATFORD, N. H., April 12.—One man was killed, another is believed to be fatally injured and two others were seriously hurt when the Montreal express, bound for Portland, crashed head-on into a freight train three miles west of here at 2 a. m. today on the Grand Trunk Railroad on the Vermont side of the river.

Many passengers on the express suffered from bruises by being thrown from their berths and from shock and fright. So great was the impact of the colliding trains a mail car was demolished and the mail was scattered about in the woods where the accident took place.

C. M. Wheeler of Portland, the engineer on the Montreal express, was killed.

The fireman on the passenger engine also was badly hurt.

A brakeman on the freight was so severely injured it was thought he could not reach the wreck. It is feared here several persons may be hurt. Details of the wreck have not been obtained.

As soon as word reached this place all the physicians of the town hurried to the woods where the crash occurred.

The Montreal express was due at Portland at 7 a. m. The freight was from Taunton.

SCORE IN PORTUGAL EXPLOSION VICTIMS

LISBON, April 12.—At least a score of persons are believed to have perished today in an explosion and fire in Vittarcal, Ignition of explosives caused the conflagration, which destroyed twelve buildings.

BILL TO COMPENSATE INJURED EMPLOYES

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Compensation to government employes for injuries received, regardless of the nature of their employment, is provided for in the Howland bill, which was reported favorably by the House Judiciary Committee. Existing law pays for only those injuries resulting from hazardous work.

BEACH COMING BACK TO AIKEN

AIKEN, S. C., April 12.—"Beauty" Beach is coming back from Europe voluntarily to face the charge of having slashed his pretty wife's throat during a fit of jealousy, on the night of February 26.

The young chum of W. K. Vanderbilt sailed from Paris, where he and his wife have been staying at the millionaire's home, the following message to his Aiken attorney:

"Authorize you to appear and sign bond for my appearance. Am returning first week."

D. S. Henderson at once had a consultation with several of Beach's wealthy friends, and as a result Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., the New York turfman and sporting millionaire, became Beach's bondsman. Mr. Hitchcock smiled genially as he offered his country home, worth probably $150,000, to cover the $1,000 bail which Squire Smoake gravely demanded. C. Oliver Iselin, who is the dean of the society colony, also stood ready to put up the money, and as soon as the bond was arranged for Mr. Iselin cabled Mr. Beach:

"Bond fixed. Return when you wish."

"Will Disprove Charge."

Lawyer Henderson then said:

"Mr. Beach will stand trial, and I am sure that he will be able to disprove the charge which has been trumped up against him. We will show that it was an unknown negro, as both my client and his wife have all along asserted, who made the attack.

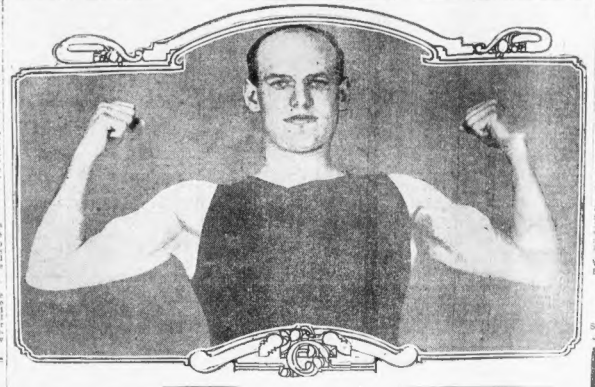
On the other hand City Solicitor R. I. Gunter declared:

"I haven't the slightest doubt that we will prove Mr. Beach attacked his wife with a gold-handled, diamond studded pocket knife, which we later obtained, and found blood spotted. A perfectly clear motive will be shown. There will be something shocking, I think, to several New York families of high social standing."

F. H. Leslie Again Harvard Hercules

Recaptures the Title with 1513 Points

FREELAND H. LESLIE OF MILTON, WHO GETS TITLE OF HARVARD STRONG MAN



COLLEGE STRONG MAN SETS RECORD MARK FOR THE ATHLETES AT CAMBRIDGE.

Freeland H. Leslie of Milton, twenty-one years old, a senior at Harvard, football guard and shot-putter, is the Harvard Hercules. He has smashed all Harvard strength records and has recaptured the title he won last year and the year before of the Harvard strong man.

Two years ago in the strength tests at the Hemenway Gymnasium he was the strongest of all, scoring a total of 1,271.6 points under the system used by Dr. Dudley A. Sargent. Last Spring he led again with 1,313.1 points.

This mark was broken by R. Crosby, 11, before Crosby left college last June. Then last Fall Captain F. D. Huntington of the hockey team beat Leslie by 100 points in strength.

Now Leslie "comes back," as they say, with the wonderful mark of 1513.2 points, breaking all Harvard strength records by 100 points and scoring half as many points again as usually are made by the collegiate "strong man."

Didn't Try for Honor.

He has given the other collegians a strength mark that will provide them with a target for some time to come. His new honors are unsought, too. The test which showed such remarkable results was made in the regular course of his entering for the candidate hold events in the Stadium today.

As the test proceeded and the young Hercules scored one high mark after another, it was seen he would make a high total, if not a new record. The result surprised Leslie himself.

The strength tests as conducted by Dr. Sargent include lifting with back and legs, grips with either hand, lung capacity and strength, dips, chinning the bar and so on.

Some of Leslie's records are:

Lung capacity—320 cubic inches.

Lift with the back—226 pounds.

Lift with back and legs—1226 pounds.

Grip with right hand—75.

Strength of chest and upper forearm—358.2.

Chinned himself—25 times.

Dips—10 times.

Leslie's weight is 181.5. He is six feet tall.

Leslie prepared for Harvard at Milton Academy, where he made a fine all-around athletic record. He entered college a year after his brother, H. C. Leslie, '11, the football player.

Freeland H. Leslie rowed on his freshman crew. But he was unable to get the swing of the varsity form for the big eight. So he went into football and strength work.

In his strength test in March, 1910, Freeland Leslie passed his elder brother, Freeland scored 1271.6 points. His brother H. C. Leslie, was seventh on the list with 1066.1.

In 1911 Leslie was champion again, beating his nearest competitor by forty-one points. The later was H. K. Bush, '11, a substitute varsity football player. The field on the list was "Done" Minot, the all-American fullback of three years ago.

This year's test shows that Leslie is stronger in his left arm than in his right. This may be due to a year's work in weight-throwing.

INCREASED VALUE OF COTTON PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A tabular summary of cotton statistics, giving acreage production, and value by States for 1909 and 1880, issued today, shows that production in 1909 increased 117.3 per cent in value over 1809. For continental United States the total acreage was 32,043,838 in 1909, as compared with 24,275,101 in 1899, the increase being 7,768,737 acres; or 32 per cent. The total production amounted to 10,940,268 bales in 1909, against 9,534,707 bales in 1899, the increase being 1,114,561 bales, or 11.7 per cent. The total value was $705,619,803 in 1909, as compared with $323,758,171 in 1899, the increase amounting to $379,861,152, or 117.3 per cent.

Milk Men's Day in South Boston Court

Many Fined for Selling Product Not Up to the Standard or Having It Minus Cream.

Ten firms or individuals were before the South Boston District Court today on charges of selling milk below standard, cream from which the cream had been removed, or skimmed milk as butter.

John E. Holdew of No. 585 East Fifth street, charged with selling milk below standard and with having in his possession milk from which the cream had been removed, was fined $50 on each charge. He appealed and was held in $400.

C. Brigham & Co., on No. 158 Massachusetts avenue, paid a fine of $50 on the same charges as Holden. Grimaldi & Co., of No. 611 Rutherford avenue, Charlestown, were charged with selling milk below standard. The case was continued till April 17. Mrs. Monska Wilkinski, of No. 212 West Broadway, paid $10 for selling skimmed milk as entire. Hannah Bodian, No. 126 Emerson street, Charles Dunkan, No. 41 P street; William L. Whitehill, No. 7 P street; and David Sullivan, No. 282 Dorchester avenue, paid $15 each for selling milk below standard. Michael J. McSoffa of No. 687 Second street paid $25 on the same charge, and a case against Sarafo A. Newman was placed on file.

SUNDAY'S AMERICAN

AMERICAN TO LEAD IN TIME, SAYS KELLER

"The Englishman shows great tenacity of purpose along a few lines at a time; the Frenchman great logical and innovating brilliancy; the German painstaking thoroughness and thoroughness, while the American has, lacking in all of these is credited the "Pineapple King" of New York and with adaptability alone according to foreign observers," said Carl T. Keller, assistant general manager of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company before the thirteenth annual meeting of the Electric Club in the American House tonight. The speaker stated that the American would eventually encompass all the attributes of the other nationalities by the mere application of his own particular adaptability.

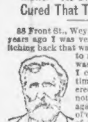
SUGAR GIRL BRIDE OF PINEAPPLE KING

NEW YORK, April 12.—A five-months' romantic courtship will be sealed today by the marriage of Miss Alice de Lamar Mackay, descendant of a Spanish Marquis, and Alexander Orr Vinton, known as the "Pineapple King" of New York and Porto Rico. Senor Vinton is also a director in the American Sugar Refining Company and owns a share in 50,000 acres of cane plantations in Cuba.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

HUMOR NEARLY COVERED HIS BODY

Much Irritated and Could Not Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. At Once Gave Relief and Cured That Terrible Itching.



88 Front St., Weymouth, Mass. — "Fifteen years ago I was very much troubled by an itching back that was worst when I was about to retire at night. My back was very much irritated and I could not sleep. By this time the humor nearly covered my body. A shopmate noticed my frequent rubbing against the shelves and edges of lockers, and advised the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I was willing to try anything to get cured, so bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. That night I bathed my back with the Cuticura Soap and hot water, then applied a light coat of Cuticura Ointment to all portions of my back, and it at once gave relief. I felt like a new man. I went to bed and had the best night's sleep that I had had for months. I continued their use until I was entirely cured of that terrible itching and although it is fifteen years since I was cured, I have had no return of the trouble." (Signed) Francis H. Tilden, Nov. 10, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment afford the speediest and most economical treatment for itching, burning, bleeding, pimply, and crusted skin and scalp humors of young and old. A single hot bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle anointing with Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing cases and permit rest and sleep when all else fails. Indispensable for those who suffer from poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and hair. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

IRELAND HAILS BROAD BILL FOR HOME RULE

Newspapers of Ireland, for Most Part, Are Satisfied With Terms of the Asquith Measure.

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 12.—The Nationalist papers of Ireland on the whole consider the government's Home Rule bill as satisfactory, although some of them profess to regard is at not being final.

The Freeman's Journal describes the bill as the greatest, the boldest and the most generous of the three Home Rule bills, and says: "We should not be surprised to find it received with hearty welcome by the Irish party."

The Irish Times, Unionist, says: "The measure will prove so utterly unworkable as to offer no middle course between complete separation from Great Britain and a return to the status of the union."

The Irish Independent remarks: "It would probably be correct in describing the bill to say that it gives no home-government of Ireland. We expected and probably not so much we expected and we deserved. The measure cannot be regarded as final."

The Cork Free Press says: "The government's scheme is not a solution of the Irish problem."

PREMIER ASQUITH CONFERS WITH THE IRISH LEADERS

LONDON, April 12.—Plans for the home rule fight were made today at a conference attended by Premier Asquith, John E. Redmond, John Dillon and T. P. O'Connor, the last three being the leaders of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament. The conference was held at the solicitation of the Premier, and a plan was formulated whereby the Nationalists will unite most closely with the government in the hard fight which will be made on the Home Rule bill by the Unionists.

The government and the Irish leaders are confident that they will be successful.

The Irish port in the House of Commons, the contest smashers and the Irish friends of England are jubilant today over the masterly introduction of the Home Rule Bill by Premier Asquith. When the date on the measure is reached on Monday by Mr. Balfour its steady advance is assured. A majority of 100 for the bill.

Home Rule Measure Praised By Leaders of the Irish Party

By JOHN E. REDMOND.

The Home Rule Bill is a far greater measure, both from the political and financial point of view, than either of Gladstone's.

By JOSEPH DEVLIN, M. P.

It is a great charter of liberty for Ireland, which will bring joy to the hearts of our race in every part of the world.

By JOHN P. BOLAND, of Kerry.

The bill lays the foundation for the building up of a prosperous Ireland. The ending of the long struggle will be advantageous to England as well as to Ireland, and so far as the Irish exiles are concerned, I believe they will be with us now as they always have been.

allowing for absentees, is confidently expected.

Premier Asquith's speech is described as one of the greatest in Parliament within memory of living people.

John Redmond, while every member of the Irish party present rose on his feet, cheered long and loudly. Cheer for cheer, loud, and a thrill seemed to pass through the House as he declared his belief that Ireland in National convention will accept the bill and close national quarrel with England.

He moved the House to tears by recalling the glad figures of Parnell and Gladstone endeavoring in the same place, a quarter of a century ago, to end the feud of centuries between two distinct races living side by side.

"We stand where Parnell stood," said Redmond, and he quoted from Parnell's speeches in his early political career, and declared that "what he said was Ireland's demand is ours and I feel that the statement of the Prime Minister will be received by the Irish people everywhere as a final settlement on honorable lines of a question which has kept races asunder and has been to the disadvantage of both."

Summary of the Bill.

A summary of the bill, which will not be published in all its details, probably until Tuesday, is as follows:

The establishment of an Irish Parliament, consisting of two houses, the Irish Senate and the Irish House of Commons. This nomenclature is an improvement on the bill of 1893 and 1895. Mr. Gladstone always objected to the word Parliament and to the name, Irish House of Commons. The Irish Parliament shall have power to make all laws necessary for the peace, order and good government of Ireland, subject to the following restrictions, which are practically the same as in the former Home Rule bills.

Certain Limitations Set.

The Parliament will have no power to deal with the question of the Crown or the succession to the Crown, the making of peace or war, the army, navy and territorial forces, the making of treaties with foreign States, dignities or titles of honor, treason, felony, naturalization, coinage and kindred subjects.

It will have no power to pass laws establishing or endowing any religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or giving a preference, privilege or advantage, or imposing any disadvantage on account of religious belief, or making any religious belief or religious observance a condition of the validity of any marriage.

The executive power in Ireland shall be vested in an Irish cabinet on the same lines as the executive in England. The Irish Senate will consist of forty senators, nominated in the first instance by the imperial government and subsequently by the lord lieutenant, on the advice of the Irish cabinet. The term of office of the senators shall be eight years, and one-fourth of the number shall retire every second year.

The Irish House of Commons shall consist of 164 members, returned on the existing franchise, and practically for the existing Irish constituencies. After three years the Irish Parliament may alter the qualification of electors and the constituencies, and the distribution of members among the constituencies.

Peers Made Eligible.

Money bills must originate in the Irish House of Commons, and cannot be rejected or amended by the Senate. With reference to other bills, if the Senate rejects a bill passed by the House of Commons, and if, in the next session, the House of Commons again passes the bill and the Senate rejects it again, then it shall be at once a joint sitting of both bodies, when the bill will become law if it secures a bare majority.

Any peer, either of the United Kingdom, England, Scotland or Ireland, shall be qualified to be a member of either House. Ireland shall continue to be represented in the imperial Parliament to the number of forty-two members, who shall sit for the constituencies set forth in the first schedule of the bill.

The entire charge for old age pensions, present and future, the insurance act, and purchase and the collection of taxes, pending the paying off of the debtit, are to be borne by the Imperial exchequer. The Irish exchequer will receive annually a sum equal to the proceeds of all the existing taxes of Ireland, and the proceeds of any new taxes imposed by Ireland, and the proceeds of the Irish post-office, which is handed over to the Irish government.

It is calculated that the proceeds of existing Irish taxes, including customs, excise and all other taxes, amounts roughly to 10,000,000 pounds ($50,000,000), but the expenditure for Ireland, it is calculated, amounts roughly to 12,000,000 pounds. The Irish exchequer will be charged with the cost of all Irish expenditures, except old age pensions, insurance, land purchase and collection of revenue.

Financial Provisions.

It is provided that the sum to be received annually by Ireland shall be such an amount as will cover the cost of all these charges, and in addition will provide for a surplus of half a million a year, to be subsequently, in some years, reduced to a limit of 200,000 pounds. When the country prospers a joint chequer board, consisting of two members appointed by the English treasury, two by the Irish treasury, and a chairman appointed by the King, will have the duty of determining questions of fact arising from time to time under the financial provisions of the bill.

The Imperial Parliament retains the power, indefinitely at any time, of imposing customs and excise, but as soon as these duties are fixed the Irish Parliament will have the power of abolishing them or increasing them. It may increase the excise duties, custom duties on beer and spirits, stamp duties, land taxes, miscellaneous taxes imposed by the Imperial Parliament to any extent it likes.

Similarly it may reduce or abolish them; it may also, to an extent not exceeding ten per cent, to the income tax, death duties, or custom duties other than duties on beer and spirits imposed by the Imperial Parliament; it may levy any new taxes, and it may reduce any taxes levied in Ireland. In other words, it comes to this, that Ireland will not be permitted to impose any excise or custom duty on any article that is not taxed in England.

Own Judicial System.

The appointment of judges will rest in the hands of the Irish government immediately. The control of the Dublin Metropolitan police will pass at once to the Irish government and the control of the Royal Irish Constabulary will similarly pass to the Irish government after a big sons. It is antiseptic as well as healing end period of six years. Existing constabulary pensions to be borne by Imperial funds.

All questions of ultra vires will be decided by the judicial committee of the privy council as provided in Mr. Gladstone's bills. The Lord Lieutenant will be appointed for six years, his salary and expenses shall be paid out of Imperial funds except that 5,000 pounds shall be provided by the Irish Parliament toward his salary.

Redmond Considers Measure Greater Than Either of Those Framed by Gladstone.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE

Many women whose upper lips and cheeks are free from that downy growth that humiliates some women find enhancement wearing short skirts, because of hair on the forearms. Superfluous hairs are easily and quickly removed by applying delatone paste. Mix enough powdered delatone with water to cover the hairy surface; spread, and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone.

Nine times out of ten when a woman looks old before her time she has neglected her complexion. Dissolve in a half-pint of witch hazel an original package of matatone and gently rub a little on face, neck and arms and you will be delighted with results. Use this daily instead of powder or other cosmetic and the skin will be smooth, soft and satinlike. Matatone preserves and restores youthful loveliness of skin.

When a woman does not care to risk catching cold washing her head she can get splendid results by dry shampooing. Put a cupful of corn meal (or the excess of powdered orris root) in a fruit jar, add the contents of a small original package of thymo and shake well together. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush thoroughly. Thymo encourages the growth of hair and makes it beautifully lustrous, glossy and fluffy.

No toilet table is complete without a jar of Mother's Salve. It is a sovereign remedy for chaps, cold sores, pimples, eczema and skin eruptions. It heals cuts, burns, scalds and long-standing sores. It is antiseptic as well as healing and lessens danger of blood poisoning.

GOOD-HEALTH WEEK! "Sunkist" Oranges on Special Sale

Special Sale "Sunkist" Oranges At All Dealers Begins Monday

Special Low Prices on Most Healthful of All Fruit

Next Monday morning "Good-Health Week" begins. The most wholesome fruit in the world—"Sunkist" Oranges—will be sold at special prices in all grocery and fruit stores. A trainload has just arrived from California and will be disposed of by special sales.

Economical housewives will buy this luscious golden fruit like they do apples—by the dozen, half-box or box. "Sunkist" Oranges are much cheaper than good table apples. Good health for the entire family! A delicious and economical treat prescribed by physicians

Buy "Sunkist" in Quantities at Pleasing Prices

"Sunkist" keep well and they will sell at such reasonable prices next week that you can buy them by the box or half-box at special prices. The wrappers from this most healthful of all fruit, along with a few stamps to pay charges, packing, etc., will provide you with several pieces of luxurious silverware.

Amazing Quality of "Sunkist"

Tree Ripened, Picked With Gloves
Seedless, Sweet, Juicy Navels

These are the choicest oranges grown—the prize crop of 5,000 of the finest orange groves in California. Each orange is perfect, large, sound, juicy and of wondrous flavor. Try them during "Good-Health" Week at the special prices, to find out the difference between perfect, tree-ripened "Sunkist" Oranges and the ordinary kind.

Insist on Valuable "Sunkist" Wrappers

Every genuine "Sunkist" comes in a tissue wrapper plainly marked. Your dealer will supply you if you make yourself plain that you want only GENUINE "Sunkist," the finest oranges in the world—"the ones with the valuable wrappers."

Economical "Sunkist" Lemons

Extra juicy, thin-skinned and of the same high quality as "Sunkist" Oranges. They go farther than other lemons. The wrappers are valuable—the same as the orange wrappers. Recipe Booklet Free upon request.

Read This Carefully

On all remittances up to 24 cents send one-cent stamps; on amounts above 24 cents send post-office money order, express money order or bank draft. Do not send cash. Make money order or draft payable to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and address your letters to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, 192 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill. Not responsible for cash sent through the mails.

You can secure these premiums with "Sunkist" orange wrappers, "Sunkist" lemon wrappers, "Red Ball" orange wrappers or "Red Ball" lemon wrappers. Or merely send trademarks cut from wrappers. If you will buy only "Sunkist" and "Red Ball" oranges and lemons, you will get fruit of the finest eating quality, economically priced, and you will soon have enough wrappers to secure a complete set of the beautiful table silverware.

ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, GAS, DYSPEPSIA OR A SICK STOMACH

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion? A doctor stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now you can get relief in five minutes.

English Models

KENNEDY'S The Live Store

The idea of unpadded shoulders, soft front coats, high cut vests and narrow trousers originated in the little town of London, situated on an island several miles to the northeast of Cape Cod.

But while the London tailors get credit for its origin, it required the deft hand of American craftsmen to bring this new Englsh style to perfection.

Having all the best American tailors at our beck and call enables us to offer you the very highest development of the English soft-roll in the most wanted new gray patterns, as well as other popular colorings, at prices made exceptionally low by our big spot-cash buying. English models good enough and handsome enough to be marked $20 and more along Washington Street are here at and from that up to $35, which is our highest price and is all any man need pay to secure the finest fabric, style and tailoring.

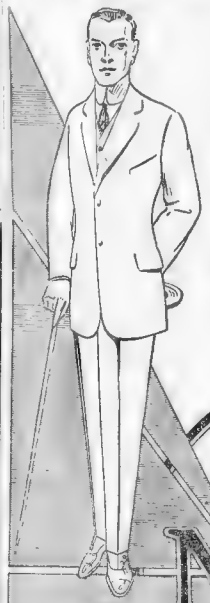
Cut Out These Figures, Place the One Clothed Over the Nude Figure and it Will Reflect the Lines of the Body Within and Give You a Fair Idea of HILTON'S New

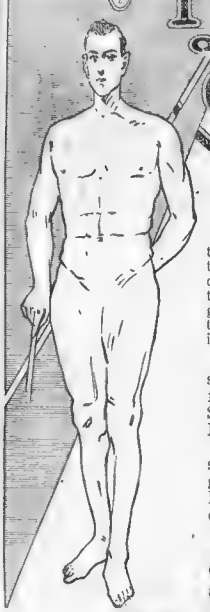
NATURAL AN-A-TOM-IC COAT

Man at no period in history ever wished to minimize the appearance of strength or bodily beauty in the adoption of his fashions.



Ten years ago Joseph Hilton, the designer of this firm, perfected his famous invention, the Concave Shoulder, and gave ready-to-wear tailoring its first great impetus toward perfection. His second contribution to tailoring art, and one which must inevitably be followed by the craft generally, as was his Concave Shoulder, is the Natural or An-a-tom-ic Coat. This coat is the fruit of five years of patient endeavor and one of which we are justifiably proud.

Hilton's Natural or AN-A-TOM-IC COAT



By placing these figures as directed and holding them up to the light, it will be noticed that the coat takes a natural line with the shoulder, continuing over the deltoid muscle down the sleeve. Following the line of the body over the breast, the coat rests gently, suggesting the pectoral muscle. The line then falls gracefully into the suppression, continuing comfortably over the hips.

The result is a garment suggesting splendid beauty and strength in the wearer's form, WHETHER THE WEARER POSSESSES THIS BEAUTY AND STRENGTH OR NOT.

This "natural" effect is not produced by stiffening, padding or hot irons, but is negotiated by clever cutting and painstaking HAND WORK. Its shapeliness positively cannot be destroyed.

The prices, as in former seasons, are:

$12.50 to $40

With Important Steps at Each Figure Between

These garments will demonstrate to you that it is possible to enjoy the CONVENIENCE of ready-to-wear clothes and the ECONOMY of ready-to-wear clothes without having any of the old EMBARRASSMENT of ready-to-wear clothes inflicted upon you. They are as nearly like the most expensive made-to-order clothes turned out by exclusive New York tailors as is possible to produce.

They are ready not only for the inspection of men unfamiliar with the new styles, but for the man who knows what he wants and is accustomed to get it.

CAUSE AND CURE OF DYSPEPSIA

Thin Blood to Blame in Many Cases and a Blood Tonic the Right Remedy.

There is a very intimate relation between the condition of the blood and the action of the stomach. The blood depends upon food each for a large part of its nourishment, while every act of digestion draws the life the food element from the blood to feed the tissues and assist in the work of giving energy to the nerves. Poor blood, therefore, means poor digestion, for the stomach will only act according to the quality of blood supplied.

Thin blood is the cause of indigestion because a watery state of blood does not properly nourish the stomach and other organs of the body, and any form of exhaustion or nervousness that may be present is likely to be troublesome. For this reason the common cause of dyspepsia, an improved blood supply is the first step toward relief. The stomach and other organs of the body will then perform their functions naturally and perfect digestion, strength and health will follow.

Mr. [illegible] Llewellyn, whose address is [illegible] Pa., says: "I am glad to [illegible] Dr. William's Pink Pills for Pale People for [illegible] I was run down, thin and pale, with indigestion, had pain in the stomach and almost constant pain in the stomach. I grew very nervous. My sleep was not restful and I had terrible dreams. My legs ached and were numb at times. I had frequent headaches, grew so weak that I could not do any work and was much discouraged. A friend in the country who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People advised me to try them. I had no color in my face when I began taking the pills. I began to improve with the first box and kept on until I was cured. I have gained several pounds in weight and am in perfect health and able to work as hard as at any time in my life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or they will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50c per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

START WORK ON NEW WIRELESS STATION ON GRAVEYARD COAST

WESTERLY, R. I., April 12.—Announcement was made today by the officials of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company that work would be started on a new wireless station on the graveyard coast between Point Judith and Watch Hill. A number of men from New York and Boston arrived in this town last night and this morning and began the work of erecting the station. The station will be the most powerful in the United States, and will be used for communication with ships at sea. It will be connected by telephone with the Boston office of the company.

COME OVER AND GET A GOOD SUIT

We make only good suits of clothes at our shop—also good overcoats.

This is so well known to the public generally that it seems foolish to repeat it over and over again.

And yet you have never been over here for your clothes, so we give you another invitation to pay us a visit.

We assume that your case is like that of many others. You don't know just where to go and yet you are going to make a change.

Well! there have been over 250 new names put onto our books this season and up to date every one of these men has expressed himself satisfied with the clothes we made him—satisfied with the price we charged.

Our prices are $15 to $25 for suit or overcoat. We give no extra pants free, because the pair you get with the suit will outwear the pants you get from any other tailor in Boston.

No uncalled-for garments. We always get the garments right and always deliver the clothes That is why we call ourselves "tailors."

No use in talking; we will give you the best you ever got for your money, but you must come over and get it.

We employ no puller-in or any bawler-out. We conduct a tailor-shop for gentlemen and you can feel free to call here any time you like, whether you leave an order the first time you call or come back next year and buy clothes.

Come over and get acquainted! We can do business with you if we can only show you the way we do it with other intelligent men.

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

It rained, and Daysey Mayme Appleton who is a Young Thing, wrote in her diary:

A dull rain has been falling all day and all my plans for a walk have been spoiled. I realize when I look at the gray, sullen clouds, that life is a Tragedy now true it is that into each life some rain must fall; some day be dark and dreary.

It seems to me Life is Made Up of Disappointments. I had planned to go calling yesterday, but a melancholy downpour kept me at home. Wild such Scenes of ... Sorrow Grief, ... me down, it is hard for me to ... not cry.

Oh, the bitterness of life! Ah, only a heart that has known Disappointments, such as mine has known, can realize the depth of Woe!

Then she marked the entry in her diary with a tear or two, closed it, and hunted up a Very Sad, SAD book, that she might read of a heroine whose life was also one of bitterness. And as she read of the heroine who had always been Misjudged and Misunderstood, she cried, and sobbed. Every few pages, she glanced at the sky, and when she saw that it was all dark and sullen, and the rain was still falling she shed more tears. For she, also, had her sorrows.

Alas, and, ah me, she had Great Woes For it always rained on her picnics! Ah woe is me, and more so, still!

It rained, and her mother, who was no longer a Young Thing, complained to her husband. The diary had passed out of her life with other attendants of youth and she now poured out her heart thoroughly to him.

"This is the fourth week I haven't been able to hang the wash out of doors because of the rain. I tried it this morning and the line broke. All the duds fell to the ground, and now I have to wash them all over again.

"I wish you would buy me some rubbers. If I am to be stepping around in this rain, I ought at least have rubbers to keep me from getting the cheap kind worse than I have it now.

"And while you are about it, get rubbers for the children, and send up a paperer hanging the clothes in the house to dry has dampened the walls, and the ceiling is beginning to fall.

"And don't forget a bottle of goose grease. This rain is giving Chauncey severe croup, and I expect the roof will be leaking next.

"I am tired to ... of having wet clothes hanging around the house, and wiping up mud tracks after you and the children. I am tired of ... g out ... f things which you don't appreciate."

Then she grabbed the mop and began to wipe up the floor, and Lysander John did.

And all the rest of the day she hung and re hung wet socks and sheets and underwear on the kitchen line, that they might dry sooner, and mopped up mud spots tracked in by the children, and scolded because the children got their feet wet.

And all that night she mixed flaxseed poultices, and rubbed little chests and ...oats with goose grease, flapping across wet clothes on the line every time she went into the kitchen.

For alas, and woe is me, and more so still!

She had passed the day when Real Grief finds solace in a diary, and there are times when the wail of it in ... anything but ...

Oh, woe, and alas again!

Quite Safe

Tinware Wisdom

Cheap tinware is sure to prove the most expensive, for it can not resist rust. Tinware pressed into shape and stamped by machinery is so thinned in spots that rust is sure to eat through in a short time. The only tinware you can really afford to buy is made of the best materials and no spot is weakened by the process.

MASON'S TIN-WARE

"Tinware that Wears"

is made for service. Only heavy charcoal tin plate is used, and that is coated with pure tin. The tin comes to you with all its natural strength, for it is not pulled and stretched in manufacture. You can tell by the touch the difference in strength and weight between Mason's wares and ordinary flimsy dishes stamped and drawn out of coke tin or adulterated tin.

The best department, hardware and housefurnishing stores carry Mason's Tinware.

The Right Road to Health — By Annette Kellermann

How to Become and Keep Supple, and How to Increase Your Height

The "settled" figure is the non-elastic figure.

As long as there is elasticity in the muscles there is a possibility of stretching and appearing taller.

The girl who wants to grow taller must keep at it constantly.

She must not sleep with her knees bent, her body crouched over them in a curved position.

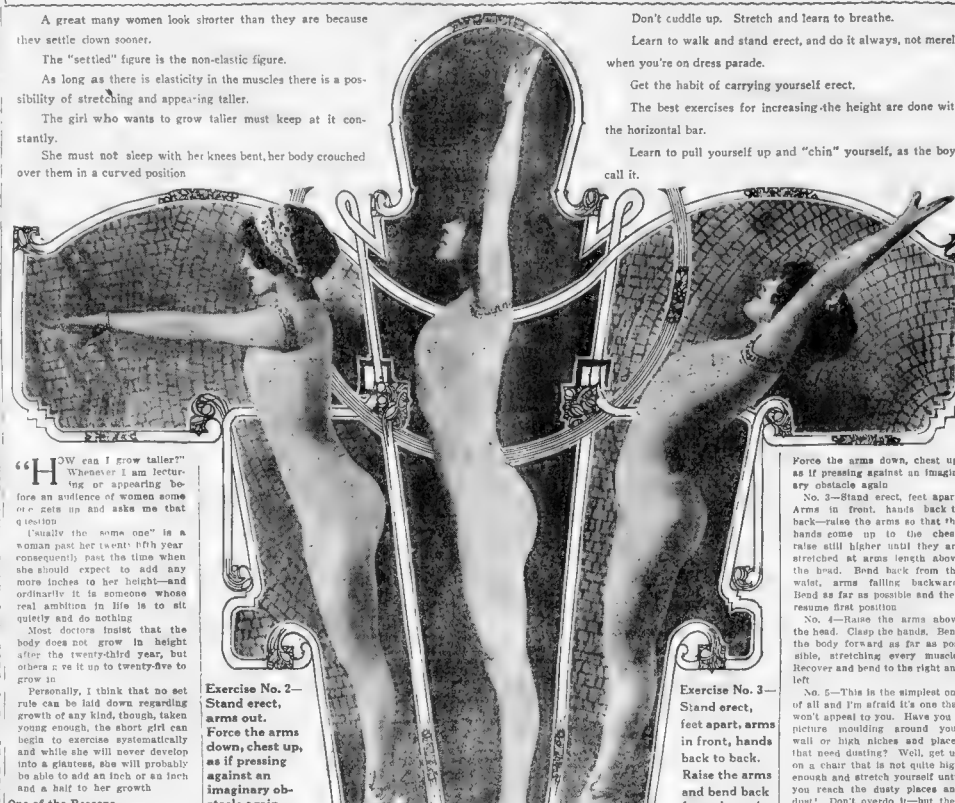
Don't cuddle up. Stretch and learn to breathe.

Learn to walk and stand erect, and do it always, not merely when you're on dress parade.

Get the habit of carrying yourself erect.

The best exercises for increasing the height are done with the horizontal bar.

Learn to pull yourself up and "chin" yourself, as the boys call it.



Exercise No. 1—Stand erect. Arms up, and press with the palms of the hands against an imaginary obstacle. Lift yourself on tiptoe, using all the pressure you can, stretching every muscle of the body and inhaling deeply.

"HOW can I grow taller?" Whenever I am lecturing or appearing before an audience of women some one gets up and asks me that question.

Usually the some one" is a woman past her twenty-fifth year consequently past the time when she should expect to add any more inches to her height—and ordinarily it is someone whose real ambition in life is to sit quietly and do nothing.

Most doctors insist that the body does not grow in height after the twenty-third year, but others give it up to twenty-five to grow in.

Personally, I think that no set rule can be laid down regarding growth of any kind, though, taken young enough, the short girl can begin to exercise systematically and while she will never develop into a giantess, she will probably be able to add an inch or an inch and a half to her growth.

One of the Reasons

The "settling" is one of the symptoms of fatigue rather than of the maturity which it is thought to indicate.

As long as there is elasticity in the muscles there is youth, and consequently a possibility of stretching and appearing taller.

The woman with the settled figure develops a broad back, her neck grows shorter, her chestbone seems to sink down until it rests upon the waist muscles, and muscles and cartilages become stiff and inelastic with the natural tendency to sink down and shrink.

Naturally this makes the person's figure look shorter.

The fact that many people grow shorter as they grow older is due to this shrinkage of the muscles and cartilages.

But the fact that so many others don't show this same sign of age is an excellent reason for arguing that this shrinkage is not a necessary accompaniment of advancing years.

You lose your elasticity because you allow yourself to lose it—by not exercising your muscles.

For the same reason the girl who does not exercise rightly stops growing.

There are a great number of sports and games excellent in themselves but not conducive to growth—horseback-riding, for instance; golf, walking, even, will not make you grow.

How to Sleep

On the other hand, swimming, tennis, basketball and all games or sports that stretch the body are excellent.

The girl who wants to grow taller must keep at it constantly.

She must not sleep with her knees bent, her body crouched over them in a curved position.

Sleep with your body absolutely stretched and flat on your back without a pillow or with the smallest one you can get, if you want to grow tall.

Don't cuddle yourself. Stretch and learn how to breathe.

Learn to walk and stand erect, and do it always—not merely when you're on dress parade, so to speak, but whenever you have to walk even the short distance across the room.

Get the habit of carrying yourself erect.

If you want to know whether you are standing correctly, get up and place a moderately heavy book on the top of your head. The head will have to come in line with the rest of the body, the chest will come forward, stomach back, the knees straight and feet together. Walk across the room balancing the book. If you can do it you are walking right.

The best exercise for increasing the height are done with the horizontal bar, and I should advise every girl who can do so, to have one made and put up in the doorway of her bedroom, if no better place can be found. Learn to pull yourself up and "chin" yourself, as the boys call it, but never do these exercises in tight clothing.

If the bar is out of the question and you cannot indulge in any gymnastic apparatus or join a class, try these exercises, but do them very regularly.

What to Do

No. 1—Stand erect. Arms up and press with the palms of the hands against an imaginary obstacle. Lift yourself on tip toes, using all the pressure you can, stretching every muscle of the body and inhaling deeply. Relax slowly and exhale.

No. 2—Stand erect, arms out. Force the arms down, chest up, as if pressing against an imaginary obstacle again.

No. 3—Stand erect, feet apart, arms in front, hands back to back. Raise the arms and bend back from the waist. Allow the arms to fall backward, bend as far back as possible and then resume the first position.

No. 4—Raise the arms above the head. Clasp the hands. Bend the body forward as far as possible, stretching every muscle. Recover and bend to the right and left.

No. 5—This is the simplest one of all and I'm afraid it's one that won't appeal to you. Have you a picture moulding around your wall or high niches and places that need dusting? Well, get up on a chair that is not quite high enough and stretch yourself until you reach the dusty places and dust! Don't overdo it—but then I know you won't and you must use first your right hand and then your left.

Exercise No. 2—Stand erect, arms out. Force the arms down, chest up, as if pressing against an imaginary obstacle again. Lift yourself on tip-toes, using all the pressure you can stretching every muscle of the body and inhaling deeply.

Exercise No. 3—Stand erect, feet apart, arms in front, hands back to back. Raise the arms and bend back from the waist. Allow the arms to fall backward, bend as far back as possible and then resume the first position.

Foolish Charity

ROBERT I. HARRIS, the charity expert of Chicago, was talking about charity.

"Unorganized, unsystematic charity," he said, "makes me think of a certain artist who, with his sister, owned a row of flats.

"There was a beggarly among the tenants who visited the artist one day and told a terrible tale of hard luck, concluding by a request to be let off that month's rent.

"'I can't let you off your rent, my poor friend,' the artist said, 'because the flats are my sister's property as much as they are mine, and she would never consent. But here—take this.' The artist handed the beggarman the amount of his rent in cash. 'Take this and pay my sister with it.'

The beggarman was overjoyed. Thereafter, every month or so, he called on the artist again with a hard luck story, and the artist each time gave him his rent money.

At last the artist, talking the matter over with a friend one day, said deprecatingly:

"I appear to be very generous, but really I am not so, for you see I get half the money I lick every month from my sister as my share."

How to Pronounce It.

"Yes," said Swagger; "this is a turkese ring."

"Excuse me," said Bogus, "the correct pronunciation of that word is 'turkwoise.'"

"No, turkese, excuse me. I say turkwoise."

"Well, let's go to a jeweler and ask him."

"Right."

"In order settle a wager," said Swagger to the jeweler, "would you mind telling me if the correct pronunciation of the stone in this ring is turkese or turkwoise?"

The jeweler took the ring and examined it carefully.

"The correct pronunciation," he said, "is glass."

FIRST APPLICATION OF A SIMPLE REMEDY DARKENS FADED GRAY HAIR

You don't have to have gray hair or faded hair if you don't want to. Why look old or unattractive? If your hair is gray or faded, you can change it easily, quickly and effectively by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. Apply a little to-night, and in the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the results from a single application. The gray hairs will be less conspicuous, and after a few more applications will be restored to natural color.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur also quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, and promotes the growth of the hair. It is a clean, wholesome dressing which may be used at any time with perfect safety.

Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and see how quickly it will restore the youthful color and beauty of your hair and forever end the nasty dandruff, hot, itchy scalp and falling hair. All druggists sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if you are not satisfied after fair trial.

The Manicure Lady

"GEORGE," said the Manicure Lady, "did you ever see any of them pannier skirts?"

"I have saw a lot of skirts in my time," said the Head Barber, guardedly, "but I never called them no names.

"But these pannier skirts ain't girls," explained the Manicure Lady. "They are regular skirts, you know, George, the garment, not the girl. They are bounced awful at the top, and kind of stingy at the bottom. The old gent says that they are hoopskirts with the reverse English, whatever that means.

"I'm gonna," said the Head Barber, "that hoopskirts are big at the bottom and small at the top, and the reverse English makes them big at the top and small at the bottom. All of them new fashions make me sick, anyway. Let's talk about the weather, whether they are going to have racing again, or the chances of the Red Sox against the rest of the American League teams. What do I care about dresses? My wife can't afford ever three of them a year, and she can't wear over one of them at a time. Go easy on the modiste murmurings."

"Sculp like yours, George," remarked the Manicure Lady, "is not capable of understanding the pretty things of life, like pannier skirts. All you can think of, from what I hear of your conversation around here, is how to make a four-ball combination in a pool game or how to dope a winner at the track from past performances, and start cutting shreds off your razor straps. You make me tired.

"Most men is the same, for that matter. Wilfred was saying just the other night that he couldn't see no sense in them new skirts, all big at the top and small at the feet. He said that he thought it was just the opposite to wear it ought to be, according to the law of averages. Wilfred is all the time talking about the law of averages. You couldn't help him from pulling that phrase if you stuck a horse blanket in his mouth for a gag. He said that if he ever had a daughter he wouldn't let her wear a pannier skirt; but talk is cheap, and my brother knows it. He knows that he hasn't much chance to have a daughter, because in the first place he ain't earning enough to support a wife if he ever happened to make a hit with a girl and hurry are.

"Wilfred says that he has a new poem about the different styles of women's dress, and he was reading the poem to me last night. It made me old gent take his hat and go over to the corner where the lights shine brightest, but I thought it was kind of a ... This is how it goes:

"Oh, woman in our hour of ease
You spend for clothes what's for you please
When debts and landlords make us sore,
You always spend a little more."

That's enough," said the Head Barber. "Gee, I wish a live one would come in. Three shaves this morning and not a tip!"

"EVEN grocers are taking a hand in the education of young housewives," said the pretty woman. "I did my first marketing last week. The grocer knew I was green. When I had finished buying he said:

"'Now, do you know how to arrange things in your ice ...ox to the best advantage?'

"I said I was afraid I didn't. He called a young man from the rear of the store.

"'James,' he said, 'when you deliver this basket of things will you show the lady the most economical arrangement of the ...?'

"Fifteen minutes later, white-aproned James was turning my ice chest upside down. He made a little diagram of everything and said it ought to be kept there. The meats, for example, should always come between the milk and butter and the fruit and salads. When he finished my refrigerator looked as much as I had been able to get into it. Another wonderful example of the situation was that James refused a tip.

"'We make a point,' he said, 'of showing customers the proper arrangement of ... ice chest.'"

Desperate Desmond — With the Timely Aid of a Bomb the Villain Creates a Panic in Prison — By Hershfield

Copyright, 1912, by the National News Association

I.—UNMASKED.
Having inexcusably given American money to the Grand Duke when asked for a loan, Desmond aroused that noblemen's suspicions, and soon the disguise in which the villain posed as Czar is stripped from him. Naturally the Grand Duke is furious at the deception practised upon him and loudly he cries to the guards to rush Desmond to the mines.

II.—IN SHACKLES.
Innocent Claude and Rosamond, also condemned to Siberian exile, are painfully making their way over the rough country, each of them dragging a heavy ball and chain to prevent them from escaping. Imagine Claude's surprise to see on the chain attached to his leg. As the bomb smuggled into the prison and suggests to Desmond that he drag it along in shackles, too, like himself. At least Rosamond will be safe from him now.

III.—THE BOMB.
As Desmond goes along to the prison he is hailed in a low voice by a Nihilist hidden in a snow pile. The man wants a fuse is not burning Desmond quickly assents, for he sees here a possible means of escaping from the dreadful prison.

IV.—THE RUSE WORKS.
The plan turns out to be successful. The guards do not notice that a bomb has replaced the heavy ball which should be dragging behind Desmond, the international crook. With his cigarette ready to light the fuse, the villain is now in possession of a terrible weapon and should be able to overawe the entire force of wardens. The scoundrel now sees a way to escape.

V.—THE FATAL SPARK.
With the fatal spark of his cigarette in close proximity to the fuse of the bomb, Desmond reveals his secret. In less time than it takes to tell it the prison guards scatter like a flock of sheep and the villain has the proud Rosamond in his grasp. He tells her that all will die together, but Desmond has no intention of dying.

VI.—IN THE SLEIGH.
"I'm the boy," cries Desperate Desmond, "and I'm blazing like a comet!" The fuse of the bomb is splutterring behind him as he rushes away in the prison sleigh with Rosamond over-come in his power. Behind him Claude and the guards are racing in the effort to capture him. The result of the chase will be shown tomorrow.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS AND ALL THE LATEST FINANCIAL NEWS

Coppers Sag in Boston Market; N. Y. Prices Lower

By W. H. ROSS.

STATE STREET, April 12—Midday—The copper list had a firm tone when the Boston market opened, and trading was fairly active. Quite was again a strong opening feature, going up 2⅜ to 57⅛. Before the end of the first hour Adventure, Mayflower, Old Colony, Shannon, North Butte, U. S. Smelting, Tamarack and Old Dominion had made fractional gains, while Granby reacted to 55. In the last hour almost all the coppers receded, and the market weakened.

The New York market is active and by noon it had gone off materially.

On the estimate that the United States Steel Corporation shipped 3,000,000 tons of steel in the first three months of this year it is figured that if it made $7.25 a ton net on the business its earnings for the first quarter were in the neighborhood of $21,750,000.

The price list was irregular at the start. Steel common opened ¼ higher and fluctuated until it lost ⅛. Amalgamated was ⅛ higher at the beginning and, after an additional advance of ⅛, much of the rise on profit-taking sales.

Traders were of the opinion that much of the irregularity was due to political news. They said that the market would continue to act like a weather vane. Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania were unchanged.

Southern Pacific was off ⅜, while Southern Railway gained the same amount. The anthracite coals were unchanged. Erie common and Lehigh Valley advanced ¼. Reading was ⅛ off, but was supported.

The Curb was dull.

In the London market American shares showed an advancing tendency and there was a big demand for Canadian Pacific reported from the Continent. One cabled statement stated that Continental sentiment on the stock exchange is attributed in some quarters to the conviction that the Administration will be defeated in its Home Rule measure.

Rio Tintos were ½ lower at 78¾.

Copper Metal Prices and Demand.

Present demand for copper metal is said to be mostly of European origin and the domestic market is described as rather dull, as users on this side of the sea are still willing to contract for supplies beyond June. Europeans favor July, and the rate of 16½ cents a pound for June and domestic sales were on the 16 cents basis. Exports of bars and ingots at 16.10 cents cash and if this is true the transactions were probably of considerable size. The New York writer calls attention to the way copper consumption has increased within a few years, saying:

"In 1900 there was an increase of 144,000,000 pounds in the world's stocks, followed by a decrease of 100,000,000 pounds in 1901, and then a steady increase to 1907, when 1,000,000,000 pounds was reached, and for the first three months of 1912 the shrinkage has been 38,000,000 pounds. This means that 211,000,000 pounds in the past two years and three months have been the world's stocks on April 1, 150,000,000 pounds."

In their weekly letter from London Henry R. Merton & Co. state that all the factors of work in the metal market there tend to force the price of copper upward. On Wednesday last the exports from the country totalled about 111 tons, making the total for the months to April 10 amount to 7,562.

When the London market opened today, spot was quoted at 470 15s. 0d. and futures at 471 11s. 3d., an advance in price of 5s. 0d. for each.

Latest About Pere Marquette.

The many New England investors who hold Pere Marquette securities will be interested to learn that Chairman Newman of the Grand Trunk and Chairman Wm. Mackenzie of the Canadian Northern Railway, Mr. Mackenzie being also a director of the Grand Trunk, have been in Detroit for several days in connection with the Pere Marquette. It is understood that Mr. Newman's visit to Detroit has something to do with the reorganization of the Pere Marquette, and there is no reason why it should not be successfully reorganized. It is said that Mr. Mackenzie was in Detroit in connection with the Pere Marquette because the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern are now one road. It is abundantly able to finance the reorganization of the Pere Marquette, if any temporary difficulty should be brought about existing in the financial world.

Financial men believe that it will be necessary in the reorganization to scale down the amount of the present bonded indebtedness, the difference between the present bonded indebtedness and the new issue of bonds to be issued in exchange for the old bonds. The present bonded indebtedness is $12,500,000 and $25,000,000 of new bonds will be issued, and common stock is issued on a basis of $100 in value for each $100 in bonds. The present preferred stock is $12,500,000 and it is proposed to issue $12,500,000 to $18,000,000. It usually goes to the par value when the dividend is first declared. Many investments were made last year, and more will be made this year.

President Hemphill of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, chairman of one of the protective committees, says that the kind of reorganization that will be made depends upon the attitude of Michigan authorities. "Should they consent to their company's plan," he said, "the receivership will be of short duration."

Financial News in Brief.

Cotton seed and meal prices will fall 40 per cent in the opinion of Chairman B. F. Yoakum of the Rock Island system, who told the board that dealers will have been in use in Texas and Oklahoma for a year. The cotton seed prices there shall be reduced to the level of those in the Mississippi valley, where the seed is worth $15 a ton and the meal $30 a ton. Chairman Clark has ordered his sales manager to take the matter up, but the kind of reorganization that will result in a permanent loan which was taken by bankers there months ago for the world's stocks on April 1 at 150,000,000 pounds."

If You Haven't Bought Any Japanese Bonds—DON'T BUY ANY AND SAVE YOUR MONEY

And Please Observe That an Apparently Harmless Money Lender and Money Broker Like Jacob Schiff Might Be an Extremely Dangerous Citizen in More Ways Than One. Lending American Money to Japan Just Now May Prove to Be Like Lending a Rifle to Your Father's Deadly Enemy. And Mr. Schiff Ought to Realize This, Even Though He Be Not Much of a Patriotic American or Very Well Acquainted with American Methods

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner.

Mr. Jacob H. Schiff, through his firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has recently been peddling Japanese bonds.

You have noticed that, haven't you?

If you haven't bought any of these bonds, we repeat concerning them now the advice that we gave concerning Russian bonds during the Russian-Japanese War.

WE ADVISED YOU NOT TO BUY RUSSIAN BONDS, AND THOSE THAT TOOK THE ADVICE SAVED MONEY.

WE ADVISE YOU NOT TO BUY JAPANESE BONDS, EVEN THOUGH THEY BE OFFERED IN SMOOTH AND OILY FASHION.

THOSE OF YOU THAT TAKE THIS ADVICE WILL SAVE MONEY.

The citizens of this country learned recently in connection with the Brandt case and a certain criminal thirty-year sentence, DENOUNCED BY A GRAND JURY, that Mr. Schiff might be dangerous to the community in a small and restricted sense.

As they consider Mr. Schiff's activities in sending American money to the government of Japan, which might at any moment menace this country, the citizens realize that Mr. Schiff in his pursuit of profits, in his professional career as a money lender and money borrower and all-around broker in cash, might be extremely dangerous and a serious curse to the country that has given him the opportunity to build up his fortune.

We need only quote Mr. Schiff himself to show that lending money to Japan, American money especially, is dangerous to America and that Mr. Schiff KNOWS this.

In a public speech, made at the Republican Club—AT A TIME WHEN MR. SCHIFF HADN'T GOT ANY JAPANESE BONDS FOR SALE, BY THE WAY—Mr. Schiff told some truths about the Japanese people and the importance of watching them.

We quote Mr. Schiff's words, as reproduced in the New York Times of March 6, 1910.

Mr. Schiff, who was then not making any comfortable little percentage on the peddling of Japanese bonds to American investors, had this to say about Japan:

> "I hope I may be a false prophet. But I am sorry to say that I believe a mighty war is coming. I say this as a friend of Japan. I helped to finance Japan during the recent war, and Japan's victory is the dangerous thing. I was greatly mortified a few weeks ago to learn that Japan had joined hands with Russia — Russia, the enemy of all mankind. Russia and Japan have only one purpose in this union. They want to keep China in a state of vassalage. And perfidious Albion, which professes to be the enlightened friend of all mankind, is a party to this compact. This understanding between Russia, Japan and England will constitute during the next few decades the world's greatest menace. If we don't show just the right statesmanship to defeat the purpose of Japan and Russia, we Americans will be drawn into Eastern affairs in a very disagreeable manner."

If it was important when Mr. Schiff made this little speech for Americans to watch Japan and not be drawn into Eastern affairs, isn't it very important now for Americans not to lend their money to Japan even though Mr. Schiff might make a few cents on the dollar for every dollar loaned?

Doesn't it seem to you that even Mr. Schiff himself, having, as the Brandt case proves, plenty of money to buy everything that he wants already, might have managed to get along without the profit that comes from the peddling of Japanese bonds to American investors?

We do not know just what response the American public made to Mr. Schiff's invitation to buy the Japanese bonds and give him his little profits. But we can tell you something that you probably didn't know, and that Mr. Schiff PROBABLY DID KNOW when he began peddling the bonds to Americans.

What the buyers of those bonds perhaps did not know is the fact that these bonds were offered to purchasers in London. The London bankers underwrote, that is to say, guaranteed the sales of about sixteen million dollars' worth of the bonds to English investors.

But the English investors, who know that Japan is hovering on the verge of bankruptcy, who realize that an investment in a Japanese bond is the most dangerous possible investment, being a loan to a tricky, irresponsible and dangerous people, REFUSED TO TAKE THE SIXTEEN MILLIONS OF BONDS, and the English bankers that had under-guaranteed the loan found that they had more than half of the bonds left on their hands.

Just what happened to Mr. Schiff in this matter, we don't know. How many bonds he has left in his safe, we don't know.

Whether or not the English used his firm to sell to Americans the bonds that Englishmen were too wise to buy, we don't know.

But we do know that Mr. Schiff is a pretty poor sample of American patriotism when he uses his office and his credit, whatever that may be, to distribute among Americans ten million dollars' worth of bonds, sending that money back to Japan, which might at any moment become the active enemy of this country.

Mr. Schiff, as his speech shows, knows perfectly well that every dollar that he sends to Japan might be returned to this country in the form of bullets.

And we should suppose that even the pleasure of making five cents on each of those dollars, or even ten cents, or fifteen cents, ought not to cause him to ignore the possible return of his loan in a military form.

Mr. Schiff, when you made that attack on Japan which caused so much attention—and which, by the way, might seriously injure the credit of Japan and the value of bonds—DID YOU HAVE ANY JAPANESE BONDS FOR SALE?

If you did not have any for sale, had you tried to get the sale of those bonds for your house? HAD YOU BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL IN THE EFFORT TO GET YOUR PART OF THE PROFIT THAT COMES FROM SELLING DANGEROUS BONDS?

Did that speech of yours about Japan, that polite and intelligent warning, influence the Japanese government at all when it came to deciding WHO was to have the glory and the profit of selling the next batch of bonds?

And, Mr. Schiff, supposing that some of the Americans who, without thinking, gave you their money to send to Japan should ask you to take back those bonds, WILL YOU TAKE THEM BACK AND WILL YOU PAY FOR THEM THE MONEY THAT YOU GOT FOR THEM?

Should Mr. Schiff answer no to the last question it might be worth while for somebody who is not pleased with the purchase of these bonds to find out whether it is not legally possible to compel a noble, patriotic money broker to take back at the price paid goods sent out with his guarantee.

In the meanwhile it would be of advantage to the country generally to study this question of money brokerage as illustrated by Mr. Schiff, and to ask whether it might not be advisable to regulate in some way the use of American money by foreign countries on a basis of so much rake off on the dollar for such and such a money broker.

Is Woman a Contradictory Creature? Read About Kansas and Judge for Yourself

There They Are Given Every Privilege Denied in Other States, and the Result Is That They Do Not Want Them

By Frances L. Garside

THE State that gave to literature those great classics, "The Beef Steer and His Sister," "The Hog and His Habitat," and "The Helpful Hen," has made another plea for recognition.

It is an appeal to the women to go there and abide.

Just notice what woman can do in Kansas.

Can Retain Maiden Name

She can retain her maiden name when she is married.

She may persuade her husband to give up his own name and take her maiden name.

She may retain her maiden name and he may retain his name.

She may retain her maiden name for business and take her husband's name for social intercourse.

She can hold property that her husband cannot touch, and may sell it without asking him anything about it.

She can hold any elective office, county, school district or municipal.

She can wear men's trousers if she desires, but she must not pretend to be a man. As long as she wears trousers as a woman she cannot be arrested. But no man, under any circumstances, can wear skirts.

In only a few of the Eastern States can a woman practice law, but she can practice law in Kansas.

Must Kiss Wife

It was a Kansas judge who decided that a man must kiss his wife just as often as her sense of affection demanded. It was another Kansas judge who armed wives with the right to go through their husbands' pockets and take what they found there.

The activity of woman in Kansas is not curtailed by the laws. There is absolutely nothing she could throw a rock at if she became a militant, and if there were, the laws would make her husband go bail if she hit straight and broke something.

If the suffragettes marched in parade in that State the laws would compel their husbands to follow as citizens on foot and carry the babies.

Kansas Gives Them Everything

Everything the women fight for in other States is given to them in Kansas.

With this result: The Kansas woman doesn't want them!

Oh, woman, you are a contradictory creature! You break rocks and heads for something you want in England, and refuse it when handed to you on a silver platter in Kansas!

Want a New England Farm RENT FREE?

Read the Sunday American!

There was a time—how was it the old song put it?—When "Uncle Sam was rich enough to give us all a farm."

That time has gone by, alas! but THE BOSTON AMERICAN, ALWAYS ON THE LOOK-OUT, HAS FOUND A WEALTHY AND DISTINGUISHED NEW ENGLANDER WITH SIX FARMS THAT HE WANTS TO GIVE AWAY FOR FIVE YEARS. The tenants can make arrangements to buy them if they care to. Our friend will PAY THE TAXES AND FURNISH THE FIREWOOD.

THIS WONDERFUL OFFER, WHICH WILL APPEAR IN NO OTHER NEWSPAPER, WILL BE PRINTED IN FULL IN THE SUNDAY AMERICAN, the name of the donor, all about his picturesque town, all the facts.

P. S.—He tells us HE PREFERS FAMILIES WITH CHILDREN. He is very much opposed to race suicide.

The Green-Eyed Bugaboo

By JAMES RAVENSCROFT

'TWAS a frigid gaze the Matinee Girl
Gave the Star and her Leading Man;
And her red lips curled with a scornful curl
As their biggest love scene began.
For the Matinee Girl was in the throes
Of the Green-eyed Bugaboo one;
Had she met the Star then, nobody knows
What the Girl might have said or done.

With all the impetuous gesturing
Of the matinee idol's art,
The Leading Man wooed the beautiful thing,
The Star of the adamant heart.
And the bon-bons of the Matinee Miss
Lay untouched, for she fed instead
On jealousy sweet, while something like this
Went haughtily on in her head:

"Now what do you think of a kiss like that?
Her lips didn't touch his at all.
She's clumsy and slow and a lot too fat.
And her chin is a lot too small.
I'm mad or I'd laugh at the way she's loud;
And graceful—about like a stick.
Look at her pushing his arm from her waist.
She's really making me sick.

"She tries to make eyes. I wish she would stop;
For that she's too silly and old.
And her hands—no wonder he lets them drop;
They must be too heavy to hold.
And her squeaky laugh, and her wobbly talk;
That gown she has on is a fright.
She hasn't yet even learned how to walk;
Her footsies are tiny—yes, quite!

"Such jewels, too! And a big motor car!
She ought to be put on the shelf!
The very idea! Her be a star?
Why, I could do better myself!
But isn't HE gallant and handsome, though?
Has the finest and noblest face.
And he can make love just the grandest! Oh,
I'd just like to be in her place."

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

LAST nite Pa was reading a work by a grate German author, it was called The Sykology of Dreams. Ma wanted him to reed sum of the funny stuff in the daily papers, but Pa, sed No, No, let me finish this grate story about Dreams. When I am reeding funny stuff, Pa sed, you always want me to reed Pilgrims Progress, & when I do git seerious by any chanst, you always want me to reed Rhyme the Monk. Now, please, sed Pa, let me git thru with this tree-tise.

All rite, sed Ms, Bobbie & I will listen to you. What is the idee of it all?

This great German, Herr Von Pretzelstein, Pa sed, is of the opinyun that anything we dreem of in a thing that happened to us at sum time during our life, & he is also of the opinyun that if we think during the day that we are posts, we will dreem of poetry during the nite. I have spent the last hour, Pa sed, thinking that I am a poet, & I wish you wud do me a favor, Pa sed to Ma. I wish that any poetry that I say in my sleep cud be taken down, so if you happen to be awake wen I talk poetry in my sleep, plcese git a pencil & talk it all down.

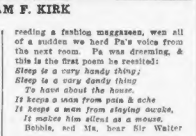
All right, dearest, sed Ms, I shall have a sharp pencil and a pad of paper all ready for you. Go ahed & snore awhile, my dear Lord Byron, sed Ms, & wen you beegin for to say sumthing poetick, I will note it down. Maybe we can sell it to a publisher, sed Ms, who knows! Ms was winking at me.

Then Pa went to bed & went to sleep. Bobbie, sed Ms, this pencil wich I have is sharp enuff, I doant imagine that it will git wore down much fitting the poetry pure father dreems. In fack, sed Ms, I have a feint idee that pure father has took the count until morning. Sumthing tells me that he has passed away until the parly dawn, Ms sed.

But Ma was wrong. I was reeding my History of Grate Men, & Ma was reeding a fashion maggazeen, wen all of a sudden we herd Pa's voice from the next room. Pa was dreaming, & this is the first poem he resisted:

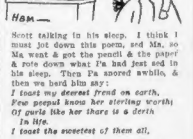
Sleep is a very handy thing;
Sleep is a very dandy thing
To have about the house.
It keeps a man from pain & ache
It keeps a man from staying awake,
It makes him silent as a mouse.

Bobbie, sed Ma, hear Sir Walter



Scott talking in his sleep. I think I must jot down this poem, sed Ma, so Ma went & got the pencil & the paper & rote down what Pa had jest sed in his sleep. Then Pa snored awhile, & then we herd him say:

I toast my dearest frend on earth,
Few people know her sterling worth;
Of curls like her there is a dearth
In life.
I toast the sweetest of them all,



I toast the wairest of them all,
Here's to my sweetheart, rengal, tall—
My wife!

Bobbie, sed Ma, isent pure father a perfeck dear? I wish he cud dream on forever. Did you hear the perfekly butiful things he was saying about us in his dream?

I diden't say anything, but from where I was setting, I cud see that Pa was wide awake all the time. Wimmen is hard to fool excep wen you praise them.
